The President's Speech $27 a Day, for All 40 Billions, Cheap Mussolini's Program

—By Arthur Brisbane—

THE PRESIDENT'S optimistic view of the fear future, backed by sound facts and figures, should comfort many doubting Americans, who thought the world had come to an end when violent stock gambling produced its usual result.

Particularly important is the fact, usually forgotten, that this nation consumes 90 per cent of all it produces. If tomorrow the people of the United States, consumers and distributors, should resume their normal purchasing, instead of holding back, in a vague, foolish fear, our prosperity conditions would immediately become 97 per cent of normal.

Americans now hoarding, they know not why, should remember that the 1930 dollar will do almost twice the buying work of a 1929 dollar. Buy now, the dollar's value will not endure.

If Henry Ford's latest prediction becomes reality, this country will consume all it can produce, and more, barring, perhaps, superfluous food products. And if they can be produced as cheaply in proportion as our automobiles are produced, our farms could undersell the world, as our automobile and moving picture factories do.

Mr. Ford predicts a minimum pay for workers of $27 a day by 1950, the five-day week to be universal, giving the $27 a day man leisure to enjoy his earnings, automobile, radio, etc.

To many, that seems preposterous—almost criminal. But not long ago there was only one man in the United States that could earn a dollar a day the year round. The increase from one dollar a day for one man only, to six dollars a day, and more, for millions of men, would have seemed as "impossible" as the increase that Mr. Ford suggests, from six dollars to twenty-seven.

Not very long ago a President of the United States complained publicly because a good man could not be hired for much less than $100 A YEAR.

There is nothing preposterous or impossible about Mr. Ford's suggestion of $7020 as minimum pay for 260 days' work in the year, 20 years hence.

Raw materials and manufacturing capacity are unlimited. Why should there be any arbitrary limit to the possibilities of wages and of human enjoyment?

When the earth has more than enough for everybody, why should not everybody have enough?

But do not let future prospects make you discontented with your present condition.

Ralph S. Kelley, of the field division of the national land office in Denver, accuses government officials of selling out 40 billion dollars' worth of public shale oil property for $2,000,000.

The wide "spread" between two millions and forty billions amounts to $39,998,000,000.

The charges, made by an official, will have the attention of the President and Secretary Wilbur in spite of the fact that it is impossible to fix any actual value for shale rock containing oil. To extract the oil would not pay at present prices, and it may not be worth while for the next hundred years or longer.

Nevertheless, investigation is necessary of the charges that "dummies" are hired to take up small sections of public land at two dollars and a half an acre, "dummies" turning their purchases over to big oil companies.

Mussolini says he will do anything to avoid war. And, part of his wise plan for avoiding war, is to keep ready for it. He expects to see the prosperity of the whole world restored within three years, and casually says, "Speculators deserve death."

In Russia, they do more than say it. They take the speculators out in twos and dozens, and shoot them, if they speculate in a way that Russia considers injurious.

If we applied that rule in the United States, there would not be enough shooters. However, even this country, tolerating anything one in the line of dollars and profit, might take action with regard to the speculators deliberately conspiring to destroy public confidence, by methods well understood in Wall Street.

Dean Hanford, of Harvard, refused a postponement of yesterday's examination of students requested by Jewish students, forbidden by religious scruples to do any manual work, even writing, on the religious holiday of Yom Kippur. He agreed, however, that Jewish students might dictate answers to questions and that proctors would be provided for the purpose.

Green Here to Attend Labor Convention

Bringing labor's greetings, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, arrived in Boston today to attend the Federation's two weeks' convention which will open Monday.

He went almost immediately into conference with representatives of local organizations relative to the convention.

"We are glad to hold our 50th convention in Boston, a patriotic city where the people have always been closely related with the growth of our organization and whose hospitality cannot be excelled," he told a Boston Evening American reporter on his arrival.

GREETINGS TO BOSTON

"I wish, though the American, to extend a word of greeting to the people of Boston on behalf of our organization. I extend a word of greeting also to the building trades department of the federation preliminary to the opening of our convention.

"We held two previous conventions in Boston. There was one in 1888 and the other was in '03. We have a very warm feeling in our hearts for Boston, so rich with historic happenings.

"The progressive people of this city and the many sympathetic friends the American Federation of Labor has here will, I am sure, make our stay of two weeks one of happiness."

President Green declared that his ideas concerning unemployment and the securing of jobs for unemployed will be embodied in a

MAYOR REVEALS 25-YEAR PLANS FOR HIGHWAYS

Improvements to Cost 100 Millions Are Outlined at City Club Luncheon

A program of street and highway improvements calling for ten major developments in this city and 56 other projects at a cost of approximately $100,000,000 during the next quarter century was outlined by Mayor Curley and the members of the City Planning Board at a luncheon at the City Club today.

13-MILE EXPRESS ROAD

Several of the major projects taken together will provide a continuous express highway 13 miles long, from the city's northern extremity at the Revere boundary to the southern extremity in Readville.

Part of this high speed artery will be under the harbor, through the East Boston vehicular tunnel, and part will be elevated, from the tunnel exit on the Boston side to Kneeland st.

At various points, north and south, other highways will feed into or cross this express route. The downtown elevated roadway will have its start at Nashua st., picking up traffic there from the Northern Artery and Charles st.

The plan, the most extensive ever prepared for an American city, is the result of three years study on the part of the Planning Board, assisted by Robert Whitten, city planning consultant.

It was drawn with a view to eradicating the traffic problem of this generation and to develop along this line for the next 100 years.

TUNNEL COMES FIRST

The major projects are:

East Boston Traffic Tunnel, work on which starts early next year.

LEGIONNAIRES, BOSTON BOUND, ARE INJURED

Bus From Atlantic City Hits a Tree at North New Haven, Ct.

Fourteen legionnaires, en route to Boston from Atlantic City, N. J., in a bus, were injured when the bus hit a tree and was wrecked at North New Haven, Ct., according to information received at American Legion headquarters here this afternoon.

Nine of the injured were said to have been taken to a hospital.

The only names available were that of Joe Fiore, 24, Anthony DeDucci.

DeLucci suffered a broken nose and Fiore was cut about the face and hands. They were not among those taken to the hospital.

The tree struck was the famous "Great Oak" at North New Haven.

Some of the injured immediately continued their trip to Boston. They were at a loss to explain the cause of the accident for the bus was not speeding at the time, they said.

The injured were taken to Dr. R. M. Taylor's private hospital in North New Haven.

According to the Legionnaires, the bus driver had fallen asleep at the wheel. He was held by the police pending an investigation.

Boston Gasoline Price Cut 2 Cents

The retail and wholesale price of gasoline was reduced 2 cents a gallon in Greater Boston today by all large oil companies. The retail station price now is 14½ cents, without tax, 16½ cents to auto owners.

Auxiliary Head Welcomed

Legion Auxiliary Head Warns of Reds

"The Communists are after the plastic minds of our young people today, and the biggest job that the American Legion has to do is to get behind every organization fostering patriotism."

Thus Mrs. Donald Macrae, national president of the auxiliary, expressed the immediate problem facing her organization on the eve of its convention. She arrived today with Mrs. Harriet D. Hoffman, vice-chairman of the National Rehabilitation Committee, and Mrs. Virginia Bedell, member of the National Finance committee. They are at Hotel Somerset.

"The Communists have apparently given up trying to upset the workers, because they know on which side their bread is buttered, but they are reaching now for our youth in schools and everywhere else, and we must get vigorously behind the R. O. T. C., the C. M. T. C., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and all other patriotic groups to save our children from radical propaganda," Mrs. Macrae continued.

This is in line with the child welfare and rehabilitation program that the auxiliary places first on its list of activities for 1931, backing the legion program, she explained, adding:

"When women know the wonderful work that we do it will not be necessary to ask them to join us."

Mrs. Macrae was met at the sta-

RINGLEADER IN CONCORD CASE GETS 20 YEARS

Phone Operator on Night Shift Mauled Nearly to Death After Auto "Pickup"

Three Waltham youths were convicted by a jury in superior court at East Cambridge today of assault with criminal intent on Miss Katherine Hagerty, 30, Concord telephone operator and church organist, and sentenced to long terms in State prison by Judge Keating.

William Brown, 19, was sentenced to serve 10 to 20 years.

Leonard Hennessy, 22, and Paul Delaney, 23, were given five to 10 years.

The jury was out three hours and 15 minutes.

The jurors failed to credit the stories of Hennessy and Delaney that they tried to protect Miss Hagerty from their companion, on the plea of Brown's counsel that he was guilty only of simple assault because he beat her while enraged after she bit him on the lip.

Miss Hagerty accepted a ride from the three youths while on her way to work late on the night of June 22. She thought she knew one of them, but soon learned they were strangers.

They drove into a lonely road and she said Delaney and Hennessy, in the front seat, laughed at her when she resisted Browns' advances and begged them to aid her. She said Brown acted like a crazy man. She fainted as she told her story to the jury.

She was beaten both in the car and also after she had been dragged from it, so badly that she was near death on a hospital cot for two weeks. Her clothing was torn off and several teeth knocked out.

Her screams were heard by a motorist, who got a policeman. The officer arrested Delaney and Hennessy at gunpoint at the scene. Brown was found at his home the next morning.

All three told the jury they had been drinking heavily on the afternoon of the crime.

Cardinals Get Sad Welcome at St. Louis

St. Louis, Oct. 3 (AP)—Several hundred faithful fans were on hand, but little enthusiasm was displayed when the St. Louis Cardinals arrived at Union station shortly before noon today in their special train from Philadelphia, after losing the first two World Series games to the Athletics.

There were occasional cheers and some handclapping, but players and spectators appeared dejected and had little to say. A fife and drum corps played while the players entered taxicabs and left for their hotels.

posed Blue Hills Radial at Kneeland and Albany sts.

The Blue Hills Radial. An express road from the Central Artery to Blue Hill ave. at Seaver st.

The North Shore Radial. An express road from the proposed state highway in Revere, parallel with the Boston & Maine railroad to Bremen st., East Boston, to the entrance to the new traffic tunnel.

Roxbury Crosstown. An express from the Old Colony Parkway north of Savin Hill, to Bay State rd., at Ashby st.

SEVERAL EXPRESS ROADS

Charles River Parkway. An express road and parkway to start at Longfellow Bridge and extend along the southerly side of Charles River to Cottage Farm Bridge.

North Beacon st., Brighton. Express road from Union sq. westerly to the Charles River.

Canterbury and Clarendon Hill Parkway. Express rd. and parkway from the southern terminus way from the southern terminus of the proposed Blue Hills Radial at Seaver st. to the proposed Neponset River Parkway with a branch connection from Clarendon Hills to West Roxbury Parkway and Washington st.

Neponset River Parkway. Express rd. and parkway along the Neponset river from Readville to Quincy Shore Drive, near Neponset bridge, with a branch to Southern Artery via Adams st.

Boston and Albany Highway. A proposed elevated roadway over the Boston & Albany tracks from Commonwealth ave., at Cottage Farm bridge to Arlington sq., South End.

FOUR PERIODS FOR WORK.

The program is divided into four periods. The first, four to six years, will be devoted to the construction of the East Boston traffic tunnel, the Central Artery, the North Shore Radial and the widening of Porter st., East Boston.

In the second period, from four to six years, it is proposed to construct the Blue Hills radial, the Roxbury crosstown, to widen Chardon st., Washington st. between Adams sq. and Haymarket sq., Castle st., South End; Old Colony ave., Dorchester ave. between Old Colony ave. and Pt. Point channel, the widening of Rutherford ave. and the construction of the City sq. by-pass in Charlestown and the separation of grades at Governor sq., Back Bay, and at the Arborway, Forest Hills.

The third period includes construction of the Clarendon Hills parkway, Canterbury parkway, Neponset River parkway and Charles River parkway. It also includes the widening of N. Beacon st., Market st., Chestnut Hill ave. and N. Harvard st. in Brighton, widening of Arlington st. in the South End and Back Bay and relocation of the South ferry to South Boston.

No definite program is arranged as yet for the fourth period.

TAX RATE UNAFFECTED.

It is expected that the first and second construction periods will cover at least 10 years and that the projects which it is hoped to complete during that time will involve expenditures of $47,238,000.

In addition to the construction program a financial plan, based largely on reports prepared by Gaylord C. Cumnin, civil consultant, has been prepared. This report suggests that by using the estimated increase in revenues available to the city from the new excise tax on motor vehicles and continuing a tax levy for debt service equal to the estimated requirements for that purpose this year, this 10-year program can be financed without an increase in the tax rate and without affecting a normal expansion in expenditures for other municipal purposes.

It is estimated that construction of the Central Artery will cost $28,000,000, and that the widening of Porter st., East Boston, will cost $507,000.

ADAMS SQ. CHANGES

The Blue Hills Radial is expected to cost $9,500,000. It is estimated that the widening of Washington st. from Adams sq. to Haymarket sq., will cost $2,235,000; Chardon st. widening $900,000; Dorchester ave. and Old Colony ave. project $1,420,000; widening of Castle, Motte and Way sts., South End, $1,025,000; Arborway, Forest Hills underpass, $350,000; Governor sq. grade separation, $400,000; Rutherford ave. widening, $1,950,000; City sq. bypass, Charlestown, $800,000; Prison Point bridge approach $165,000; improvement of Dewey sq., $6000.

Their contributions have always been accepted.

Dr. Zuro Agha, a Turk, visiting Harvard, who thinks he is 156 years old, is probably one of the oldest men living, if not actually 156. Dr. Voronoff, who "restores youth" by gland transplantation, offers to rejuvenate poor old Agha.

Spread of Cancer Is Laid at Doors of Doctors

New Bedford, Oct. 3—The medical profession itself is holding back cancer prevention work, Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, professor of clinical surgery of Johns Hopkins University and world-recognized authority on cancer, told Massachusetts doctors here today.

Doctors have not been taught to think and act in terms of prevention, although prevention offers more than any cure, he said.

"The minds of our people are in a receptive mood, the press has uniformly offered its services. But the medical profession is holding back, both as a great organization and individually," he declared.

TO PROTECT MOTHERS.

Dr. Blodgood addressed the New Bedford cancer clinic, one of a series of meetings throughout the State arranged by Dr. George H. Bigelow, health commissioner, and Dr. Herbert L. Lombard, director of the division of adult hygiene.

Their purpose is to place facts regarding cancer and cancer prevention not only before the residents of various districts, but before their medical, dental and nursing professions.

"We have protected thousands and we are in a position to protect millions," Dr. Bloodgood said.

Women who have borne children can be protected from cancer by an annual pelvic examination, he said, but the vast majority are ignorant of that fact.

No doctor should treat any bone troubles without first taking an X-ray, he declared. That is also true of any stomach trouble, he said.

IGNORANCE BLAMED

"Cancer of the skin is a disease of dirt, ignorance or delay, and cancer of the mouth, with the availability of good dentists, should be looked upon as a mental deficiency.

"The whole trend of modern preventive medicine shows the increasing value of the selection of a family physician when you are well and of going to him or her for an examination and advice how to keep well."

More than 150 doctors, many of them cancer authorities, will attend tomorrow's session of the clinic and 100 patients will be examined.

A motion picture of artificially-grown cancer cells made at Johns Hopkins will be shown those attending.

WOMAN DIES IN FIRE; 12 HURT

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—An aged woman was burned to death and a dozen others injured in a fire today which damaged two apartment houses in northwest Washington.

The body of Miss Jessie Cammack, 75, of Washington, was found after the fire was extinguished.

Scores of other occupants of the apartment house jumped from windows after flames cut off other means of escape.

About 200 persons lived in the two apartments.

The origin of the blaze had not been established.

DRY FIGHT DUE IN HOOVER'S LAW BOARD

Possibility of Demands for a Definite Stand on Prohibition Stirs Action

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—The offices of President Hoover's commission on law observance and enforcement took on a definite air of activity today as final material was assembled for a meeting of the commission next Wednesday—the first since June.

Faced as the commission is with the possibility of being asked to make a definite statement on the prohibition problem, all members except Henry W. Anderson, Virginia lawyer, have indicated they will be present when the meeting convenes. Anderson is abroad.

Only two members of the commission were at headquarters yesterday. They were Kenneth Mackintosh, former Washington State Supreme Court justice, and Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law school.

Mackintosh already has announced he would insist the commission make known its judgment on the prohibition law, stating unequivocally whether the dry statute is believed enforceable or what the commission believes should be done if it is not.

Dean Pound declined to discuss his stand on Mackintosh's statement that the commission "go to the guts of the prohibition question."

He said, however, he was studying new material, gathered by the commission.

MISS EVELYN McLEAN

Wins Legion Cup

A PLEASANT SURPRISE is in store for Miss Dorothy Janes, 19, of Mattapoisett, when she is notified in France that she won the American Legion prize contest. Gov. Allen today presented the cup awarded in the contest to her father, Dr. Arthur P. Janes.

Presentation of a cup by Gov. Allen today revealed that a 19-year-old Mattapoisett girl, now in England in ignorance of her victory, won the American Legion's recent prize essay contest.

The cup was presented to Dr. Arthur P. Janes of 419 Boylston st., for his daughter, Miss Dorothy Fuller Janes, who was graduated from Fairhaven high school last June and will enter the University of Grenoble, France, Nov. 1.

Her essay was entitled, "Why My Father Should Belong to the American Legion."

A week ago Thursday, before the awards were announced, Miss Janes sailed with her mother, Mrs. Mabel B. Janes, on the American Trader of the U. S. Lines from New York.

They will visit in England and France before Miss Janes enters the University of Grenoble, a famous institution on the Swiss border, for a four-year course, specilising in French and music.

Her father planned to send her a radiogram today informing her of her good fortune.

A prize was also awarded to Raymond A. Rich, Jr., 14, of 45 Mason ter., Brookline, as winner of the boys' division contest. He is a freshman at Brookline High school and was present with his mother.

BEACON ST. FIRE ROUTS SCORE

Twenty residents were driven to the street and several nearby dwellings were threatened by fire in outbuildings in the rear of No. 119 and 121 Beacon st. early today.

Scores of wealthy Beacon Hill residents were attracted to the scene.

Miss Evelyn McLean, of 121 Beacon st., was aroused from her sleep by the crackling of flames as was Mrs. Lois Surette.

The two women sent in emergency telephone calls to the fire department and an alarm was sounded by John F. Redmond, of 207 Audubon rd., who saw the flames while he was passing in Beacon st.

The fire started in outbuildings used for storage purposes, and spread rapidly to adjoining sheds.

Throngs Crowd Church as the Last Curtain Falls on Career of Noted Dancer

The last curtain fell today on the career of Jack Donahue and behind it the happy-go-lucky hoofer was borne to his final rest.

In the heart of New York's theatrical district, where but a short time ago the boards clattered sightly to the rhythm of his nimble feet and the world gathered to laugh at his merry quips, his funeral service was held.

St. Malachy's Church in West Forty-ninth st. was crowded to the doors for requiem mass, and outside, from Broadway to Eighth ave., the street was so packed with those who came to pay him a last tribute that for more than an hour traffic was diverted.

It was Broadway's farewell, but it was Boston's too, for there was a delegation from this city and Charlestown.

It was a "So long, Jack," from countless thousands who laughed with and at him over the 26-year span that saw him rise from comedian in a medicine show to the most popular star in musical comedy.

NOTED STARS PRESENT.

Ed Wynn was there. And Oscar Shaw. And Thomas Meighan. Jack Haggard and Lynn Overman. Producers and prominent actors and actresses and girls of the chorus.

And a woman who had sat up all night in the gold room of the funeral parlor where the body lay—Jack's mother, who never left her Charlestown home when her boy had fame and fortune at his feet.

There was a carload of flowers from Boston, as well as floral offerings from Mayor Curley and almost every living Broadway celebrity.

Among those who sent floral tributes were Joe Cook, Harland Dixon, Oscar Hammerstein, Schwab & Mandell, Jerome Kern, Gladys Glad, Charles B. Dillingham, Florenz Ziegfeld, Marilyn Miller, Fred Stone, Mary Hay, Ring Lardner, Paul Whiteman, the Lambs Club and members of the "Sons o' Guns" company, in which Donahue was starring in Cincinnati when he was stricken last week.

FLOWER-COVERED CASKET

After the mass, the casket, covered with red roses and lilies of the valley, was borne out of the church and carried to Harrisdale for burial.

The procession moved from the church through the crowded street toward Eighth ave.—away from Broadway.

So Jack Donahue left behind him for the last time the gay street he loved.

His run on Broadway had ended.

GREEN HERE AS LABOR CHIEF

report which he will submit to the convention.

WILL GREET HOOVER

On Monday Green will welcome President Hoover, who, immediately after addressing the American Legion convention Monday afternoon will address the A. F. of L. convention.

The vanguard of delegates to the labor convention were on their way to Boston today, most of them expecting to arrive and register tomorrow.

In the preliminary meetings the Metal Trades department voted in favor of the five-hour day, and instructed their officers to get the endorsement of the parent body at the big convention next week.

O'CONNELL RE-ELECTED.

James O'Connell of Washington, D. C., was re-elected president, J. P. Frey of Cincinnati, O., secretary-treasurer, and Joseph A. Franklin of Kansas City, Kan., first vice-president.

The delegates were addressed by President Green, who completed and read the metal trades on their work for unionism.

President Green also addressed the Trades Label Department convention, in a joint session at the Hotel Statler, going from there to Hotel Bradford, where he spoke to the 150 delegates to the Building Trades Department convention. He was presented to the latter by Michael J. McDonough, president of the department.

NOTICE—The American Legion Parade which starts at 10 A. M. on Tuesday, October 7th will begin to pass the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank about 10.20. It is expected to be hours in passing; traffic on School Street will be congested. For these reasons the Main Office of this bank will not be open on that day. Our West Roxbury and Jamaica Plain Branches will be closed all day October 7th, also.

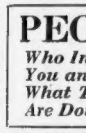
Mrs. Coolidge Presents Gown to Memorial

Fredericksburg, Va., Oct. 3—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge presented the gown she wore at the first diplomatic reception under the Coolidge administration to the Monroe Memorial here, it was announced today by Mrs. Rose G. Hoes, great-grandaughter of President Monroe.



Mrs. Coolidge

The gown will be exhibited at the Monroe shrine here along with the gowns worn by Mrs. Monroe during her husband's administration. The collection is in a little low brick building here, where Monroe began his career as an attorney.

Mrs. Willebrandt Aids Home Wine Makers

Washington, Oct. 3—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, heretofore thought of as an ardent dry advocate, stood forth today as the individual responsible perhaps more than any other for the liberalized attitude toward wine making in the home. Mrs. Willebrandt, a shrewd attorney and clever business woman, has maintained her contacts since she stepped down from her position as assistant attorney general, and since that time she has enlarged her field of associations.

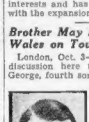
Recently she became the representative of the California grape interests and has had much to do with the expansion of that industry.

Brother May Be With Wales on Tour

London, Oct. 3—Plans are under discussion here today for Prince George, fourth son of King George, to accompany his brother, the Prince of Wales, on his good-will tour of South American nations next spring. Nothing definite regarding the plans were announced although speculation was rife here today.



Prince George

The trip is only a possibility, though close to the royal family said. Authoritative quarters here have it that if the trip is made it will be a preliminary survey to the appointment of Prince George as governor-general of one of the British dominions.

Daughter of Governor of Virginia to Wed

Richmond, Va., Oct. 3—Announcement of the engagement of Suzanne Pollard, daughter of Governor and Mrs. John Garland Pollard of Virginia, to Herbert Lee Bostwright, Jr., of Washington, D. C., was made here yesterday. The wedding will take place during the height of the winter social season, it was announced.

Suzanne Pollard

The ceremony will be performed in the old Virginia executive mansion here which has been the home of Virginia's governors for generations. Miss Pollard won the admiration of Virginians when she acted as hostess in the executive mansion shortly after her father's election.

LEGION TO SEEK HIGHER ALLOWANCE FOR VETS' DEPENDENTS

BATTLE AT CONCLAVE IS OPENED

Throng of Delegates Swamps the Legion Clerks; Dry Battle Shelved

A battle for higher money allowances for dependents of deceased veterans, and for added expedition in claims settlements, will be waged on the floor of the American Legion convention, it was made known today.

According to Watson B. Miller, chairman of the American Legion National Rehabilitation Committee, a delegate from Washington the fight will be for dependents of veterans who died from non-service-incurred causes, as well as veterans dead from service injuries.

SEEK NEW HOSPITALS

Chairman Miller declared that: "In my opinion the convention will ask for added expedition of claims settlements.

"As the government has embarked upon an extensive program of rehabilitation, not only by money grants to compensate for lost earning power, but by restoration to economic status by hospital treatment, hospitals should be erected in advance of an estimated load rather than as at present, some two or three years behind the need.

"Both the Veterans' Bureau and the Legion are able to estimate those requirements for the immediate future and for more remote periods."

NO ACTION ON DRY LAW

The stand of the Legion in refusing to take action on the prohibition question was explained today at convention headquarters by Scott W. Lucas of Havana, Ill., national judge-advocate.

"There frequently prevails in every city where a national convention of the American Legion is to be held," he said, "an erroneous idea as to the part the Legion, as a national organization, plays in national politics.

"Frequently the question is asked as to what the position of the American Legion will be upon certain partisan issues or candidates seeking political office or preferment.

"Of course, the answer is obvious—absolutely nothing, and the reason why the American Legion does not participate in political issues or candidates is because of a clause in the national constitution of the Legion which sets forth that it is absolutely non-political and shall not be used for the dissemination of partisan principles."

In overwhelming numbers, Legionnaires and women of the auxiliary stormed registration offices today shattering all previous days' records.

As they poured in upon the clerks, under City Councillor Clement A. Norton of Cecil A. Fogg Post, in charge of registration, the housing committee learned with relief that the steamship Gov. Dingley will arrive in Boston Sunday.

The Gov. Dingley has been fully equipped as a floating hotel and has accommodations for from 700 to 1300.

The registrations today were mostly Legionnaires, with the women of the auxiliary expected to arrive in their greatest numbers tomorrow and Sunday.

The heaviest registrations were at the Statler, but reports from other stations indicated a similar condition.

As the arrivals poured in, it was rumored about the Statler that the convention is not likely to adopt a stand on prohibition, despite the fact that the New York department passed a resolution for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Tarr to Quit? Well, He Doesn't Know It

United States Atty. Frederick H. Tarr was more surprised than anyone today over a report from Washington that he was to resign, was not to seek reappointment or was otherwise slipping out of office. The report had him doing either both, in favor of Robert T. Bushnell, now district attorney of Middlesex county.

"I have never mentioned retirement. I have never mentioned reappointment and do not intend to until Dec. 1, when my term is up," Tarr said.

All of which seemed to explain his position in regard to his job.

'Speedy' Hawks Here for Legion Air Fete Sunday

Capt. Frank Hawks, who holds the transcontinental non-stop flight record, will attend the 1930 American Legion convention air show, the greatest air meet ever held in New England, which opens at the airport tomorrow.

In a salute to President Hoover, 41 army and navy planes will maneuver over Boston, Monday, as the President leaves the Boston Garden to attend a luncheon for distinguished convention guests at the Hotel Statler.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock Monday the army and navy planes will stage a realistic air battle over Charles river basin.

5 IN RACE FOR LEGION HEAD

As the delegates continued to troop into Boston today for the American Legion convention, lines were being drawn for a spirited battle for national commander of the Legion and national president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

There are five principal candidates at present for national commander, and in support of one—Ralph O'Neil of Kansas City—no two gubernatorial candidates in the state, Republican and Democratic, have temporarily shelved their own campaigns to come to Boston and aid his fight.

The other leading contenders are J. Munroe Jackson of South Carolina, Frank Sneller of Wisconsin, Col. Rozzwell of Virginia and Emmet O'Neal of Kentucky.

For national president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Ruth McCurry Brown of Arkansas and Wilma Moyal of Iowa loomed today as the principal candidates. The former is one of the nation's outstanding child welfare workers, and the Arkansas delegation is solidly behind her.

The campaign to stage the 1931 convention in Los Angeles was begun several days ago by early arrivals from that city, but delegates from Detroit have arrived since and have opened a campaign for their city, while Portland, Ore., and a Florida city are also reported as desirous for the next national meeting.

SON DEAD, MAN TRIES SUICIDE

Lawrence, Oct. 2—Despondent as a result of the drowning of his son last June, Paul A. Novak, 40, of 40 Valley st., attempted suicide by drinking poison in his home today.

Discovered unconscious on the bathroom floor by his wife Sophie, Novak was taken to Lawrence General hospital, where his name was placed on the danger list.

According to Mrs. Novak, police say, her husband told her could not stand the sorrow any longer that he had no desire to live now that the boy was dead.

Stanislaw Novak, 8, was drowned in the Merrimack river, and police dragged two days before recovering the body. During that time Novak refused to leave the scene.

$800,000 Fire Loss in Harrisburg, Pa.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 3 (AP)—Benson E. Taylor, secretary of property and supplies, today estimated damage from a fire in the new State Education Building at between $800,000 and $1,000,000.

American Legion Auxiliary Baby

Infant Girl Tours Half of U. S. to Be With Legion

Dorothy Ruth Bartholomew, the 1930 American Legion Auxiliary convention baby, heaved a contented sigh as she settled down to her 'steenth home on Hemenway st. today.

Dorothy Ruth is the champion infant traveler, having started out when she was six weeks old, in a basket, visiting different Florida units of the Auxiliary with her mother, Mrs. Dorothy H. Bartholomew, then department president for that state. She covered 4500 miles by rail before she was six months old.

She was one year old last Saturday and she had her first birthday party at the home of her cousins in Delaware, Ohio, en route to the Boston convention. Her mother is national committeewoman for 1931.

Such things as keeping milk fresh on ice and having the room perfectly quiet while she sleeps have never even been considered by this healthy, good natured baby, for she drinks powdered milk and takes her nap on roaring trains with the utmost unconcern.

And she has her strained vegetables every day, no matter where meal time finds her, for her mother carries them in a compact case for the purpose.

Seven weeks ago this 25 pound marvel of babyhood kissed her daddy, Dr. G. C. Bartholomew, goodbye in Talulha, Fla., and started out with her mother and her go-cart for Boston, via St. Louis and Cleveland, for the Auxiliary convention.

While Mrs. Bartholomew attends the convention sessions, Dorothy Ruth will pursue her normal baby activities, entirely undisturbed by strange surroundings and strange faces.

FETE PLANNED FOR GOURAUD

Plans for a glorious welcome for Gen. Henri Gouraud, official representative of France to the American Legion convention, were completed today pending his arrival at Back Bay station tomorrow night at 9:05.

Col. William J. Keville, U. S. marshal, who commanded the 16th ammunition train of the 26th Division overseas, will be on hand to welcome him with a delegation of legionnaires.

Mr. and Mrs. Sedley Peck from Paris, reported at national headquarters in Horticultural Hall late yesterday. Peck is commander of Paris Post No. 1 and is reported to be in line for election as department commander of the Legion in France.

L. S. Rothschild who came all the way from Honolulu to attend the Boston convention, disputes the claim that Peck from Paris has made the longest trip of any delegate to the 1930 conclave.

"Before I get home I will have traveled 13,000 miles," said Rothschild today.

Sam W. Reynolds of Omaha, member of the national executive committee, was one of the first Nebraskans to arrive at national headquarters in Horticultural Hall yesterday. He said Nebraska is sending a delegation of 200 which will leave Friday night and arrive in Boston Sunday morning. Nebraska will bring along a band and crack drill team. Maj. Marcus L. Poteet is state commander.

5000 KURDS DIE IN MASSACRE

Jerusalem, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency today received reports of Turkish attacks against the Kurdish rebels in Kurdistan which apparently came from the Kurdish rebel war council. These said that in one district, 220 villages were destroyed and 4500 men, women and children massacred.

Another report, through the same sources, said that in the vicinity of Julamerck 300 villages were destroyed and 500 persons killed. A further portion of this same report said 400 villages between Agri and Pendruk had been burned by incendiary shells dropped from airplanes.

BROADCAST OF CONGRESS IS SOUGHT

Speeches on Air Planned as Means of Recreating Interest in Affairs

Washington, Oct. 3—A movement for broadcasting the proceedings of Congress has been launched today by the Washington Herald in co-operation with Hearst Radio Service.

In an editorial the Herald said: "Many voices are raised lamenting the lack of interest of the American people in public affairs. Public indifference, say some of our most estimable citizens, leads to political disintegration, graft and corruption.

NO LACK OF INTEREST.

"It is true political affairs these days have many competitors for the public attention. But the Washington Herald doubts very much that there is any real lack of interest on the part of the American people in things that vitally concern their welfare. We think they would like to know more of what is going on in Washington, the Nation's capital, rather than less. Why not give them the opportunity.

"Congress can do something, right away, to stimulate public interest in its debates and in national affairs generally. That is to have important congressional speeches brought to the American people over the radio. That is a natural and logical step in promoting a sound interest on the part of the public in its own business. It should be made, at the very next session, in December.

"The right of free speech is a precious heritage of the American people. But there cannot be free speech without free hearing.

SPEECHES ON AIR.

"We offer this suggestion to Congress, with the feeling that it would do more than any one thing otherwise possible to recreate an American interest in national affairs—and in the men and women who direct them—let the House and Senate channel it at once, so that the important speeches of the next session may be carried to the people, everywhere, over the radio."

Hearst Radio Service is beginning a poll of incumbent senators and candidates for the House and Senate, to determine their present attitude toward broadcasting of congressional proceedings.

BOSTON COTTON MAN DROPPED

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—The board of managers of the New York Cotton Exchange today dismissed the membership of J. Joseph O'Donnell, of Boston, and ordered the membership to be sold to the highest bider on Oct. 14.

O'Donnell was associated with P. T. Jackson & Company of Boston, which some time ago announced its inability to meet its obligations. No action was taken by the Cotton Exchange on that announcement as the firm was not a member, but a few days later O'Donnell was suspended when he announced his inability to meet obligations.

J. Joseph O'Donnell is vice president of P. T. Jackson Co., Pearl st., cotton brokers, pictured into bankruptcy last month. Liabilities were listed at $1,471,351, assets $876,397.

Brother of Barron Dies in Somerville

Henry S. Barron, a resident of Somerville for the past 35 years, and a brother of the late Clarence W. Barron, Boston financial expert, died today at 151 home on Monroe st., Somerville. Mr. Barron, who was in his 78th year, was a retired truckman. He was a deacon of the First Universalist church, Somerville.

The funeral service will be Monday afternoon in the First Universalist church. The Rev. George E. Leighton, D. D., will officiate and interment will be in Woodlawn.

Suspect in Slashing of Girl Is Freed

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 3 (AP)—Henry Siwinski, 22, arrested in Chicago Wednesday as a suspect in the slaying of 17-year-old Alice Woltman, was released today. Miss Woltman's throat was slashed as she lay asleep in her home.

WHEN FLAMES swept the Cone estate at Harvard on the eve of the wedding of Miss Marie A. Cone to Charles Hutchinson, the bride's trousseau and the wedding presents were rescued. The nuptials will take place in Congregational Church, Harvard, tomorrow.

BRIDAL PARTY IN TOWN HALL

Harvard, Oct. 3—The reception following the wedding of Marie Adelaide Cone and Charles Frederick Hutchinson tomorrow night will be given at the town hall as a result of destruction of the Cone estate by fire last night.

Three hundred guests had been invited to the reception at the house, and the fire necessitated a hasty revision of the plans.

The wedding will take place in the Congregational Church, as originally planned. Rev. Ralph M. Harper of St. John's Episcopal Church, Winthrop, will officiate.

Miss Cone is the daughter of the late Erwin Watson Cone and Mrs. Cone of Boston and this town. Hutchinson is the son of the late W. K. Hutchinson of Arlington.

The Cone mansion, which was 100 years old, was leveled by flames with a loss of $40,000. Wedding presents and the trousseau of the bride were rescued.

Gen. Summerall in Tour of L. I. Sound

New London, Ct., Oct. 3 (AP)—Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the army, and officers of the First Corps Area at Boston, inspected harbor defense forts of Long Island Sound today. The officers with Gen. Summerall were Brig.-Gen. Merriweather L. Walker, commanding the First Corps Area, and Col. E. A. Buchanan. Gen. Summerall and party arrived at Fort Wright, Fisher's Island, from Fort Greble, near Newport, R. I., aboard the coast guard destroyer Shaw.

ALL ILLINOIS IN LINE TO HONOR W. R. HEARST

Chicago, Oct. 3—Lieut.-Gov. Fred E. Sterling has arrived here to lend the power of the state of Illinois in making the official reception to William Randolph Hearst next Thursday an outstanding event.

"Governor Emmerson authorized me to say that the state desires to share in this deserving tribute to that great American, Mr. Hearst," said Mr. Sterling to Mayor Thompson.

"If the Legislature were in session I am sure we would all feel greatly honored to have Mr. Hearst address the two branches. Since we cannot expect him to come to Springfield we are coming to him in Chicago."

The Illinois Staats-Herold, a newspaper printed in German, said in a front page editorial that "Chicago will be honored" by Mr. Hearst's visit.

"Mr. William Randolph Hearst is the outstanding American of today. He has done more for this country in advancing American principles than any other individual," the paper said.

Heads of a score of organizations of Americans of German extraction are making arrangements to have large delegations accommodated at the Soldier Field stadium. They acted in accordance with a resolution adopted by the officers of the groups at a meeting in the council chamber.

Mayor Thompson will speak about the program in an address over KYW from 8:15 to 8:30 Saturday night.

Conry Hails Hearst as U. S. Institution

William Randolph Hearst is more than a private American citizen—he is an American institution—Traffic Commissioner Joseph A. Conry, former Boston Congressman declared today.

"His daily publications throughout the United States are an educational inspiration to millions," he said.

"The action of the French politicians, to, penarily in power, in requesting Mr. Hearst to leave France indicates a frame of mind between the ridiculous and the stupid. These politicians were incapable of understanding the affront paid to millions of Americans who appraise justly the value of Mr. Hearst's service to education and free speech.

"One valuable result of their action will be to annihilate in the American minds an idea formerly existing of the alleged superiority of foreign statesmen.

"The men responsible for the impolite request that Mr. Hearst leave France would have difficulty in being elected, on merit, pound-keepers or fence-viewers in any American village or town.

"Mr. Hearst wins renown while the Frenchmen remains unknown."

PORT OF BOSTON IN REVIEW

By CARL MORRISON

An example of the famed German efficiency came to light recently. The passenger liner Munchin, which was badly damaged by a fire in New York, is soon to appear under a new name—and thereby hangs a tale.

The bill for getting this liner across the ocean to Germany by means of a tug, which would be obliged to travel both ways, would have reached a quarter of a million dollars.

The Germans patched up their ship and she limped across the Atlantic, under her own power, taking plenty of time, but saving plenty of money.

On January 1 she will reappear as the Steuben, to operate in the West Indies run from New York.

FISH FACTS

During August 24,728,124 pounds of fish were landed in Boston, Gloucester had 3,700,000, while Portland received 1,436,000.

LOSES TWO ANCHORS

The steamer Cohasset, owned here by the Quincy Steamship Co., lost two anchors in the recent tropical storm while passing from Baltimore to Galveston. At Charleston she has just been repaired and has resumed passage. She was surveyed by John Forsyth of Boston.

SAVING A MILLION

The plan of the U. S. Shipping Board to cut down activities in several ports will represent an annual saving of well over a million a year. In Boston the several salaried men and stenographers will be eliminated, probably by Christmas, and a saving of $25,000 on payrolls will be made. Only one man, probably Malcolm H. McGann of the marine repair department, will remain.

ARMY BASE No. 2

Second in the daily series of articles about the background of the Army Base Terminal situation, is a discussion of the rent. The amount originally called for in the lease was to be "in no event less than $85,000 per annum."

A clause in the lease said that the Shipping Board "may demand a readjustment of the rental," and accordingly last January a reduction of $15,000 was granted.

It is understood that the Merchant Fleet Corp. agreed with the position of several Bostonians that the terminal should have been put up for bid again, out of fairness to competitors who might wish to benefit from the unexpected reduction.

IN BOSTON RUN

The motor freighter Silversandal has been delivered to the Silver line by the builders in Ireland, and will be seen in the Far East and Boston run. She is the last of six motorships of 15,000 tons, with 16 knots, ordered for the fleet.

DUE SATURDAY NOON

Making exceptionally fast time, the new motor vessel Britannic is due in Boston at Commonwealth Pier at 2:30 in the afternoon. This White Star liner will bring 330 Bostonians and 1000 for New York.

TODAY'S WHO'S WHO

$10,000,000 Rum Quiz Veiled in Secrecy

Opelousas, La., Oct. 2 (AP)—Strict secrecy was maintained today as a federal grand jury approached conclusion of an investigation of a reputed $10,000,000 intoxication rum smuggling syndicate involving a Canadian schooner I'm Alone.

It was known that true bills were asked against more than a dozen suspected of smuggling liquor into Louisiana bayous and shipping it east in cars of grain.

Post Out for Legion Attendance Honors

Ipswich, Oct. 3—Declaring today every member of Ipswich Post 80 of the American Legion is planning to attend the American Legion convention in Boston, Commander Frank W. Dondero of the Ipswich Post said his post probably will have the honor of being the only post that will attend the convention intact.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

Letters from readers on current subjects are welcomed. Letters should not exceed 250 words in length, should be written on one side of the paper, and must bear the writer's name. Names will be omitted in publication, if requested. Address Editor, Boston American, 8 Winthrop sq.

For Good Material Look on U. S. Farms

Editor Boston American:

The farms of New England have scored another victory. Fifty per cent of the students studying to be ministers in the educational institutions of Greater Boston are products of the farm or of ministers' homes in country towns.

This is said in addition; that the four brightest men in public life today first saw the light on a New England farm.

This is a fact if you want good material to put into professions and business just comb New England farms. When a young man comes to Boston to look for work and says he was brought up on a farm that is the best recommendation.

DANIEL N. DERBY.

Move to Honor Ryan, Advocate of Peace

Editor Boston American:

We think that Mr. Ryan of Dorchester should receive some sort of a gift for his efforts for "world peace" which he has fathered at his own expense for seven years.

Our suggestion is a loving cup, donated by popular subscription in Boston, and also a reception in his honor. The "Tercentenary year" should not close without some appreciation by Bostonians for his wonderful work which inspires us, indeed. MINNA EINSTEIN, RUTH BROWN, FRANCES PARISI, ANNA BUDRIS, MISS MITCHELL, MISS WALSH, OLIVE STANLEY, MRS. D. MARSHALL.

Seeks History on Business World of U. S.

Editor Boston American:

The business history of America should be written. As far as I can learn this has never been attempted. We have the best brains in the world in business. This matter has been overlooked or is probably too large a subject to be published or to be condensed for busy men to read.

We have biographies of good business men like Amos Lawrence of Boston, John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, or A. T. Stewart of New York city.

But the history of business is more important than ever. I would like to read the History of the Northwestern Farmers in Business, if there is such a book.

JAMES T. DILLOWAY.

Finds "High Table" as Bad as "High Hat"

Editor Boston American:

The "High Table," at Lowell House, Harvard University, is just as objectionable as the "High Hat." Both these features upon public occasions promote distinctions. With many of us they cut no ice. Then this "High Table" business is an imitation of English customs. We assert upon public occasions that we have a democratic form of government, then we split the beans that we are anything but this.

"Get rid of "High Hats" upon public occasions. Don't think you are superior because you wear a discriminating head gear. "Judge not by outward appearance but judge righteous judgment." says the Holy Book.

England is a fine country and can originate customs and habits. But let us be more original in this land of the free. We are to be a creative country, not servile imitators. "High Hats" and "High Tables" are in the same category. If this country is a democracy let us run true to it. JOHN N. COLLINS.

New 'Bat' Nelson Dies in Fight; Boxer Held

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 3 (AP)—"Battling" Nelson of Waterloo, Ia., fighting in the semi-final to the Mandell-Myers bout last night, died with his gloves on. He collapsed at the end of the fifth round.

His opponent, Kid Leonard of East Moline, Ill., was held for the inquest today. He is 17 and was fighting his 10th professional bout. Nelson, whose full name was Hildreth C. Nelson, was 27, married, and father of four children. He was a welterweight.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

The hearts of all good citizens go out in answer to the plea of your correspondent, Jobless, and all who form the sad ranks of the unemployed. As one of the great aids to unemployment, the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed. America must recognize the liquor industry as a legitimate business instead of spending millions trying to suppress it as something disgraceful. The revenue that goes into the bootleggers' pockets should be going into the treasury.

One of the greatest benefits from the Canadian system of government control of liquor is the relief the taxpayer experiences in revenues derived from lawful liquor traffic to the impoverishment of the speakeasy proprietor. In their latest respective fiscal years the provinces which adopted the system have obtained an aggregate exceeding $22,000,000.

Not only does prohibition cost America $1,000,000,000 every year, but our citizens spend their money abroad in countries that have liquor instead of at home. In 1927 tourists left $242,754,000 in Canada. The Tourist Association of Ontario estimated that in the six-year period from 1922 to 1927 the number of foreign cars using the province rose from 882,926 to 1,998,626.

The farmer has been impoverished by prohibition. When farmers were kept by law from growing hops, barley, etc., for use in beer, and cereals for making distilled liquor, they had to grow other crops, and the surpluses thus arising have caused the farm crisis since 1920, the first year of prohibition. The repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment would mean that 4,550,000 acres of plow lands would be immediately needed to grow grain for beer alone.

If now we had the same per capita consumption in the United States of distilled liquor, wine and beer as we had in 1914, and if we charged the same rate of taxes as is now charged in England, Scotland, Wales and north Ireland, then the United States revenue would be about $4,000,000,000 per year.

The money lost through enforcement, taxes and the revenue spent by tourists outside their own country could relieve the unemployment situation in America a great deal. These reasons will influence thoughtful citizens in Massachusetts to vote "YES" on referendum question No. 2 to repeal the Baby Volstead law on November 4, the first step to striking out the national prohibition law. FLORENCE BIRMINGHAM.

GIRL FREED IN AUTO CRASH

The Boston American on Wednesday published the news that Miss Veronica Perry, 19, of Newburyport, had been found by a Lynn court inquest to be guiltless of any criminal negligence in the death of two young men struck by her car on the Newburyport turnpike a month ago.

Through an error in the omission of the word "not" in a shorter story appearing in yesterday's editions, it was stated that she was found criminally responsible.

The fact is that she was completely exonerated and held blameless, the inquest disclosing that the victims, with others, were pushing their car and had obscured its taillight. The American regrets this error and takes this occasion of correcting it.

The cosmetic help problem is solved by Isabey, a kitchenette apartment and the best advertised daily in the Fur Rest columns.

Donahue's Fight for Fame a Cosmopolitan Feature

In a spirit of "carry on" even after death, Jack Donahue, mourned stage star, will continue his entertainment of America, it was announced today as the popular comedian was laid at rest in New York.

His "Letters of a Hoofer to His Ma," written in the style that made him such a success in literary circles, will continue with the November issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

The announcement of Editor Ray Long recalls the summer series of Donahue, in intimate glimpses of his inner life as he rose from the sidewalks of Charlestown to the peak of stage life.

A touch of the unusual is behind his writings that shows the true calibre of the youth who entertained thousands, but still remained a boy to his mother.

By mail his first efforts reached the office of Editor Long, buried in thousands of manuscripts that flood the office of the magazine daily.

Editor Long, little knowing the prominence of his contributor, was struck by the human appeal in the letters of "Jack Donahue." Months after they were accepted Editor Long learned that his new author was the star of the stage.

The November issue will start his second series, a group ordered when the popular appeal proved so great in the first. They center around his vicissitudes in the lean years of barnstorming through New England mill towns.

Shouse Given Tax Cut for Race Losses

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—The New York Times says Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, has been allowed income tax deductions for losses on horse races, but not election bet losses, club dues and entertainment.

The ruling, revealed in the records of the board of tax appeals, was a compromise settlement.

Dawes Delegate

Washington, Oct. 3—Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to England, yesterday accepted appointment as the delegate of the National Geographic Society to the 100th anniversary celebration of the Royal Geographical Society of England in London on October 21.

TYPICAL GIRL IN BROADCAST TONIGHT

By RUTH MUGGLESEE

Tickets for the opening of 'What a Widow,' Gloria Swanson's talkie to be shown at the Loew's State Theater next Monday, are in the mail for the 25 semifinalists in the Boston Evening American's Typical New England Girl contest.

The Typical New England Girl Editor promised that when the film made its first appearance in the Hub revealing those intriguing French landmarks of its capital city, Paris, invitations would be sent out to the semifinalists.

WINNER TO APPEAR

Through the courtesy of Joseph Brennan, managing director of the theater, and the Boston Evening American, the party has been arranged for next Monday evening. At 2 p. m. Miss Lucy R. MacDonald will be presented in the auditorium from the stage of the theater and Boston, anxious and interested, will hear the young woman selected from a group of 200 contestants say a few words.

Boston will have an opportunity to see the girl who copped off all the honors in the Typical New England Girl contest as a typical New England girl of tremendous accomplishments, of charm and poise, of culture and dignity, of humor and personality.

BROADCASTS TONIGHT

And in the audience those other 24 young women, each a splendid specimen of New England womanhood, will be seated to give cheer and applause to Miss MacDonald their hostess.

At 6:30 p. m. tonight Miss MacDonald will be heard over Station WLEX in a 10-minute interview with the Typical New England Girl Editor.

Industrial Display Depicts 300 Years

As a record of the 300 years achievement along industrial lines in Massachusetts the Tercentenary Industrial Exposition at Mechanics building presents a striking display in the evolution of industry. Thousands of visitors are being attracted to the exhibit, in which nearly 200 manufacturers, under the auspices of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, have displays.

Boston Horse Show Committees Busy as Date Draws Near

PLANS ARE GOING AHEAD rapidly for the Big Boston Horse Show at the Boston Garden from October 28 to November 1. Many of the details are well under way and the entertainment committee announces that a dance will be held on the evening of October 28 at the Copley-Plaza for all of the exhibitors and their friends. B. Nason Hamlin will be master of ceremonies and amateur talent will be called on to make merry. The ballroom will be fitted up to resemble a barn and the affair will be informal.

MISS ELIZABETH LODER is sailing for Europe soon and her friends have given several little bon voyage parties. A recent dinner party was held at the Commander Hotel in Cambridge with Eddie May, Barry Wood, Rodger Holten, Connie Creighton, Charlie Cunningham and Eustis Walcott attending.

MISS BETTY FOSTER IS being presented at a very high tea

Many Society Girls Resume Business Activities in Greater Boston

on October 8 at her parents' home on Clyde st., Brookline. Later in the season, January, we hear, she will have a dance given in her honor and an orchestra from Paris will be brought over for the occasion.

FALLING RIGHT IN LINE is Miss Rosamond Musgrave who we hear will venture downtown in the crowds to assist in some interesting work or other at a large department store on Washington st.

MISS CONSTANCE CREIGHTON has commenced her hospital work at the Boston Dispensary. She will assist in the clinic. Society girls are not willing to spend all of their time just for pleasure; they are trying to be of some worth to their community and enlarging their outlook upon life.

IN THE SAME COURAGEOUS spirit, Sally Wambolt and Alice Dalton are with the Copley Players. Miss Dalton understudying the heroine and Miss Wambolt also taking an active interest.

Accent Goes With the Autumn Frock

By ANN ARDEN

NOT AN English accent—we mean a pastel accent to complement the new dark colors for fall.

EVERY WOMAN'S wardrobe will contain at least one black frock with accent touches in its trimming—that latest fashion flash from Paris.

PASTEL TOUCHES with dark dresses offer infinite variations and relieve the dark monotony of black, brown, green and the dark reds. Winter pastels, which are slightly darker and deeper than those of summer, add undeniable chic to the graceful new frocks.

THE BEST people are doing it—Chanel and Maggy Rouff among them. The two named, perhaps are doing most—in quantity and quality—when it comes to adorning dark frocks with light touches. Maggy Rouff, for instance, is responsible for a very, very dark brown crepe frock—which seems so much to lie softening details of pale pink crepe. Chanel has a frock of brown canton made feminine with lingerie trim of petals alternating pink and brown.

IF YOU know your boleros—you know the difference at once between the first boleros of Spanish origin and these brand new ones that could come only out of Paris. They cut the figure in the same places—do just as many flattering and pleasing things for the proportions of these new long dresses. But there's a new chic that's born of individuality and distinction.

THE COSTUME pictured has an immense amount of chic of a very sophisticated kind for the older woman. It is of black merita, a fine, soft wool. The skirt has inverted box pleats, and the bolero edges are scalloped and finely braided, as are the edges of the kimono sleeves. The soft old rose satin blouse is sleeveless and shirred at belt and neckline. The draped black felt hat has pom-poms of black and white feathers low on one side as trimming. The necklace is black and white, and the bag pleated black outlined in gold leather. Black pumps are worn, and rose beige pull-on gloves.

Music Clubs Offer Prizes For Young Artists

By NANCY BREWSTER

The ninth biennial contest for young artists, held annually under the auspices of the National Federation of Music Clubs, is on in Massachusetts, Mrs. Frederic L. Milliken, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Music Clubs, announces, at the same time making public the rules and regulations of the contest.

For the Commonwealth, Mrs. Harry Thompson of Needham is chairman.

Designed to promote high ideals of artistic excellence in the work of young artists, and to set before each participant a standard by which he can judge his own performance, the federation, in sponsoring such contests, has discovered artists of no mean ability. The national contest will be held at the national biennial convention in San Francisco next June.

The national prizes will consist of $500 for each of the eight first prize winners awarded for coloratura, dramatic or lyric soprano; contralto or mezzo soprano; tenor, baritone or bass, violin, cello and organ.

A special opera prize of $1000 is offered by the National Opera Club of America to any woman whose voice is of outstanding operatic quality.

Contestants must be native citizens of the country or naturalized citizens, and only those who intend to follow music as a career. They must be no younger than 17 and no older than 28 to be eligible.

Women's City Club to Hold Open House for Legionnaires

The Women's City Club will pursue the customary policy with regard to the use of the clubhouse next Tuesday when the American Legion and Auxiliary parades through the streets of Boston. Only members and guests accompanied by guests will be admitted to the clubhouse. Miss Frances G. Curtis, president, explains.

SPANISH GALLERIES $10 Dress Sale

The manufacturer of these dresses, not to be outdone by his competitors, had about 67 dresses of heavy quality canton crepe, on which he must have taken quite a loss, made up so that we could retail them at 10.00. Canton crepes, cowl necks, tunic model, copies of 25.00 dresses for misses, 10.00.

About 80 light weight wool dresses for women, 40 for misses. Beautiful semi-tailored models that were made to sell for a great deal more. 20.00 is a conservative value for both of them. 10.00.

All in canton crepe—fur fabric trimmed, copy of 29.50 dress. Cowl neck, buttoned tunic, ruffle around hip. Dolman sleeve, pleated tunic and pleated underskirt, two models with cowl neck and flared skirt, tunic model with fancy neckline. Juniors, 10.00.

Tunic model for women with ecclet studs. Just 30 that have sold up until today at 18.50. All 10.00.

3 models in canton crepe, for which we bought the materials ourselves and had them made up to our order. Misses. Copies of 16.50 models. Price 10.00.

About 30 georgette dresses that are wonderful bargains, slashed strapped sleeves. Copy of 24.50 model for women. Price 10.00.

Two coat models for women. One with contrasting piping, the other trimmed with lace. These also are copies of 25.00 dresses. Price 10.00.

Just 34 dressy misses' dresses from a maker who had a large quantity of very fine material on hand and wished to dispose of it. Usually 16.50, price 10.00.

Tunic model for women with ecclet studs. Just 30, that have sold up until today at 18.50. Priced 10.00.

Marvelous value—a lot of 50 women's coat dresses with scalloped coat line and contrasting vestee. Usually 19.50, price 10.00.

SPANISH GALLERIES $46 Coat Sale

Kit fox is lavishly used in the Paquin collars and spiral cuffs in a lot of 42 broadcloth coats, semi-fitted, with corded effects on the side. For women. Instead of 65.00, priced 46.00.

Half shawl collars and spiral cuffs of Australian opossum, particularly becoming on these 37 belted broadcloth coats for women. Instead of being priced 60.00, they are all 48.00.

Genuine wolf of a fine silky grade trims 6 Trico broadcloth coats, slightly flared, fancy seaming. Half shawl collar and spiral cuffs. For women. Usually 65.00, price 46.00.

Flared model trimmed with Manchurian Wolf (dog), shawl collar and pointed cuffs, of Trico broadcloth. For women. Usually 55.00, price 46.00.

You would expect to pay 65.00 for these caracul trimmed broadcloth coats. In this sale for only 46.00. Flared model with shawl collar, flare cuffs and slot seams. For women.

A rich shade of brown broadcloth sets off the large Paquin collar and deep cuffs of muskrat in a group of about 60 very fine coats for women. Usually 60.00, price 46.00.

Canadian Wolf trims a Viennet belted model, shawl collar and spiral cuffs. For misses. Usually 53.50, price 46.00.

Lapin, one of the smartest of furs, forms the large pouch collar and gauntlet cuffs of these 13 semi-fitted coats for misses. Usually 59.50, price 46.00.

Special group of 10 natural squirrel trimmed coats with pouch collar and spiral cuffs, for misses. Usually 55.00, price 46.00.

3 small groups of great values. One group trimmed with kit fox, another with Caracul, another with Manchurian Wolf (dog). For Misses. Usually 65.00, price 46.00.

A sale that challenges its own great record of past years.

$15 Dress Sale

A very expensive quality of silk intended for 25.00 and 35.00 dresses, is in these canton crepe dresses trimmed with metal buttons, snake belts, and with novelty sleeves. For Misses. Price 15.00.

These two-piece light weight wool dresses with diagonal buttoned jacket top, vestee and cuff facing of fine pique were never intended to sell for less than 22.50. For Women. In this sale for 15.00.

A maker who specializes in fine misses' dresses had a limited quantity of wool crepe—just enough for 84 dresses. He made these up into a pleated model to sell for 18.00 instead of 25.00. For Misses.

Often a maker needs money quickly. Such was the case with one who gave us a big reduction in 75 canton crepe dresses, some trimmed with fabric fur, others tunics and peplums. For Misses. All priced 15.00 instead of 19.75 and 29.50.

Another lot of canton crepe dresses with cowl neckline caught by bow ends, were the result of two manufacturers wishing to contribute to the success of this sale. For Women, 15.00.

Another maker had on hand just enough fine materials for 108 dresses. Intended to sell for 22.50 and 25.00 he made them to sell for 15.00.

2.95 Hat Sale

Lot of 32 hats—berets made from sample pieces of Chanells, values up to 3.50 a yard, taking 1¼ to 1½ yds. Another lot of 150 from one of our best manufacturers making 5.00 hats. The balance are a few here and there from manufacturers that gave us these hats at this time on account of the business we do with them.

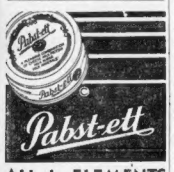
Year's Supply of Soap to Be Presented at School

Through the courtesy of Lever Brothers of Cambridge, a major gift of a year's supply of Rinso and Lux will be presented today from the stage of the Statler ballroom at the annual Martha Lee Cooking School.

There are probably very few women in New England who do not depend on Lux to preserve the pristine beauty of their most precious possessions—dainty silk underwear, sheer stockings, frocks, laces—in fact more and more women are Luxing practically their entire family washing.



ALL the ELEMENTS of WHOLE-MILK

Melon Weighs 160 Pounds

"Jumbo" weighs 160¾ pounds—considerably more than the young lady standing at the side of it. It was shipped to the Kelvinator Sales Corporation 20 days ago to keep for the Leslie Huddleston Post No. 12, at Hope, Arkansas.

The world's largest watermelons are grown in the country adjacent to Hope, Arkansas, and yearly at the time the larger melons are ripe a watermelon festival is held, together with contests for the largest and next melon. "Jumbo" is very close to the largest, if not the largest, that has ever been raised and when it is cut, at the end of the Legion convention, will furnish quite a water melon feast for a considerable number of people.

Until the convention, "Jumbo" will be displayed in the window of the Kelvinator Sales Corporation, at 749 Boylston st., Boston. During the convention "Jumbo" will be on of the features of the Arkansas State display.

Keeping a ripe watermelon in perfect condition for a month is something that was not dreamed of a few years ago, until modern refrigeration has made this accomplishment possible.

The Kelvinator Sales Corporation in Boston feel highly honored at being chosen to keep preserved for the convention display this world's largest water melon—and until the convention it will be "Kept by Kelvinator" at 749 Boylston st.

Largest Watermelon

THIS IS "JUMBO," the world's largest watermelon, "Kept By Kelvinator" for over a month to be displayed at the Legion Convention.

Martha Gives Tips on Soup

While it is a far cry from the days of soul-satisfying soups concocted by our grandmothers to withstand the wintry blizzards of New England, we can still point proudly to our home made soups even in this day of lighter and more sensible meals. The most modern of moderns, famous Helen Morgan, expresses a deep attachment for old-fashioned potato soup, and today I am passing on a choice recipe which you may share in. But first just a few hints on the making of home-made soup.

When you are preparing the dinner meat and trim away bone, do not throw it away, but take a trip to the refrigerator, and surprise your family with a delicious soup for the following noon. Add a few cups of cold water to the bones, then an onion, a bit of dried celery, the bit of leftover meat you found in the refrigerator, and the liquid from the vegetables you are preparing for the evening meal.

If by chance you have some leftover cereal add that too, but not too much, just a little, and simmer the soup slowly for an hour or two. Served with lettuce and tomato salad, French dressing, whole wheat bread, fruit custard, cookies and milk or tea, you have a perfect and complete meal.

OLD FASHIONED POTATO SOUP
3 potatoes (cut small)
2 tsp. chopped onions
½ tsp. salt
1 qt. boiling water
⅛ tsp. white pepper
2 tsp. chopped celery
2 tsp. parsley chopped fine
2 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. flour

Heat one tbsp. butter, add the onions and celery, and let simmer ten minutes. Add potato, cover, and cook two minutes. Add the water and boil one hour. Add more boiling water as it evaporates. Blend the remaining flour and butter, add some potato liquid and cook. Combine the mixture and serve hot with croutons. Any cold cooked vegetable left-over may be added.

CHICKEN GUMBO WITH OKRA
½ of a 4 lb. chicken
¼ cup rice
1 small can okra
1 small onion, chopped
2 stalks celery, cut.
½ cup strained tomatoes

Make a rich chicken soup by boiling an old hen chicken that has stood in a salt solution of 1 tbsp. salt to 3 or 4 quarts of water all night. In the morning your chicken is put in clear cold water and brought to a quick boil, and skimmed, then simmered slowly for 3 or more hours. Add 2 stalks of celery or one quarter cup of diced celery root, one onion, pepper and a little nutmeg if desired. When the meat is tender, cut it into small pieces and return to the soup, add the rice, okra and strained tomatoes, and cook gently for one hour.

ONION SOUP AU GRATIN

Slice three onions very fine and fry golden brown in two tbsp. of butter, keeping well covered. Then add to one quart of hot soup stock, well seasoned, and boil five minutes. Slice three hard rolls very thin and toast in the oven until hard and dry. Pour the soup into a casserole or serving dish, arrange the toast slices on top and cover with a cupful of grated Parmesan cheese.

Faithfully yours,
Martha Lee

Finast Fruits Win Favor

Mrs. Cross has had on the table beside her every afternoon she lectures a glass of Finast Grape Juice which soothes her throat better than anything else. Martha Lee, however, is partial to Finast Crushed Pineapple and can be seen behind the scenes at intervals swallowing a spoonful of this delicious crushed fruit.

Finast fruits used in cooking at the Statler School have proved uniformly fresh and satisfactory, and as you know they are extremely reasonable at all times.

In fact all Finast National groceries which were the choice of Martha Lee and Mrs. Cross for the Cooking School have given 100 per cent satisfaction and undoubtedly they are doing the same good work for you in your own home as on the stage of the Martha Lee Cooking School at the Hotel Statler.

China Feature at School

One of the most talked of features at the Martha Lee Cooking School at the Statler Wednesday was the stunning luncheon set used for the table appointments in the demonstration of the course. It was a hand-painted luncheon set shown by a young woman from A. Stowell & Co. The 21 Winter st. firm.

The luncheon set was of the new canny crystal brought out by Fostoria Glass Co. and now coming into current vogue among hostesses who appreciate the fine and unusualness of design in their table appointments.

The rich, regular, of the Martha Lee set was a fitting complement for the soupcons of the French cuisine, pure and simple, which Mrs. Cross creates in her New England home, even to all of their plates are set on any other high Lenten gatherings such as the Lion A-den, the Hotel Statler and the Lady Lenten.

Final Cooking Class Today

Today marks the final day of the Martha Lee Cooking School and [illegible] I suppose! Inaugurated in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel [illegible]

To women whose [illegible] this has been quite a [illegible] me a new importance to the [illegible] Not if the judges [illegible] men. And to those for whom [illegible] and I suppose [illegible] other forms of activities have [illegible] continued to make the week [illegible] a real success.

The award of the most points [illegible] the most economy [illegible] was [illegible] to Mrs. [illegible] have [illegible] A [illegible] those [illegible] paper for the [illegible] orange and the awards.

Martha Lee [illegible] has [illegible] pupils [illegible] registration [illegible] for [illegible] the [illegible] a [illegible] cooking school [illegible] atmosphere [illegible] classroom and [illegible] Boston. There [illegible] as much enthusiasm as [illegible] a promise to the [illegible] Lee's [illegible] [illegible] promise [illegible] be [illegible] consummated [illegible] [illegible] evidence [illegible] liked the [illegible] simplicity of [illegible] [illegible] from the chairm [illegible] of Mrs. Cross [illegible] has from the viewpoint of [illegible] housewife.

This afternoon is the big afternoon for the distribution of the many gifts that have caused so much favorable comment as being such desirable contributions from various merchants in their effort to make the annual Martha Lee Cooking School a success.

The program at the evening session will, consequently be the most interesting of all. We are very sure, from the many comments [illegible] and the expressions of verbal appreciation showered upon Martha Lee and Mr. Cross, that [illegible] visitors are sincerely sorry [illegible] [illegible] must be closed.

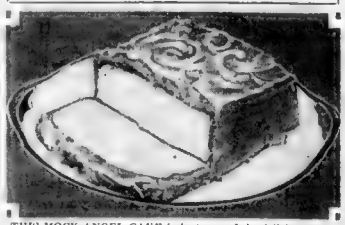
Angel Cake Is Economical

This Mock Angel Cake demonstrated by Mrs. Cross at the Martha Lee Cooking School is practical and economical besides being easy to make. Here is the recipe:

1 cup sugar
1½ cups sifted cake flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup boiling milk
3 egg whites
2 tsp. baking powder
Flavoring

Sift together twice the sugar flour and salt. Add milk, being sure it is really boiling hot when added. Flavor. Sift the stiffly beaten whites onto this mixture, sift the baking powder over the whites and cut and fold into the cake. Pour into ungreased pan and bake in moderate oven for about 40 minutes. Frost with thick almond frosting.

Try This Cake Some Day



THIS MOCK ANGEL CAKE is just one of the delicious dishes prepared by Mrs. Cross at the Cooking School at the Statler.

Salada From Best Blends

After you've said everything there is to say about tea, the one thing left to say is—Salada.

Salada tea is blended entirely from the choicest growths of Ceylon, India and Java, and every leaf is scientifically protected in the metal foil Salada package. Salada is always absolutely pure, delicious in flavor and possessing the full strength and aroma of the fresh natural leaf. Because of this complete protection you buy full value when you buy Salada.

A package of Salada tea was to be found in each of the 25 market baskets given to guests on each of the four days of the Statler School this week, and you'll always find it generously displayed in the Martha Lee Cooking School of the Boston Evening American at 5 Winthrop st.

Hood Gives Ice Cream Cakes

Mr. Klofkorn, advertising manager of H. P. Hood Co., presented one of the famous Hood Ice Cream Cakes to a guest at the Martha Lee Cooking School at the Hotel Statler on Thursday.

As you know, from frequent demonstrations at the Martha Lee Cooking School at the Boston Evening American, these ice cream cakes are made of solid, rich creamy ice cream.

These cakes are made to order by the H. P. Hood Co and delivered to your home in a carton packed with dry ice, which keeps the contents cold for 12 hours.

Another gift of the H. P. Hood Co is a month's supply of cream and a month's supply of milk to go to some fortunate woman in attendance.

Rice Krispies Are Ideal for Your Lunch

Do you consume the well known "sinker and coffee" in a rush and then run out for a soda at 10 30 to keep you going until lunch time? Try instead a bowl of Kellogg's Rice Krispies, dotted with fresh berries or sliced fruit, a dash of sugar and a generous portion of cool milk or cream.

These Kellogg's Rice Krispies are made of pure corn in thin crisp flakes delicately blended with malt, sugar and salt.

TASTY CEREAL HELPS STOP CONSTIPATION

Did you know that you can overcome constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal each day? Read this enthusiastic letter from Mrs. Kidd:

"I have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a sure cure for constipation, and know it is a remarkable regulator for the stomach. After using it my family will certainly will not be without it. I have even gone so far as to send some of it to my mother in Pendleton, Indiana." Mrs. Anna Kidd, 17 Wolcott Terrace, Newark, N. J.

How easy to prevent constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonfuls daily. In stubborn cases, serve with each meal. Do this and banish pills and drugs from your life.

Delicious with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Cook into bran muffins, breads, omelets, etc. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also adds needed iron to the diet. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GAS the better FUEL . . . assures

quick, convenient HEAT in any ROOM

At any season there are cold corners and odd spaces requiring occasional heat. Starting the main heating plant is unnecessary if heat is required but a few hours or days. For Gas, the Better Fuel, can be taken to these cold spots and shown its work, either with a gas fireplace or a gas radiator. Now the problem of instantaneous heat for any occasion is solved. This modern way of heating rooms and spaces knows no substitute in convenience, cost, or comfort. Gas space heating appliances are adaptable for stores, offices, or isolated buildings. They assure quick heat with fresh air. They make the feet so grateful. Many people prefer the new gas heating stoves cleverly designed as an up-to-date cabinet phonograph. Visit your own gas company. Ask to see the modern space heating gas appliances. You will marvel at their possibilities and low cost. They may be had on convenient terms.

Fruit trees 250 years old—and a recipe that grew up with them

THERE are fruit trees that old, right in the quaint little old village of Middletown, N. J., where the woman lives who sent me this excellent Crisco recipe for Dutch apple cake.

She told me, too, that the thrifty settlers used to mark their boundary lines with fruit trees, mostly apple, instead of fences. And the wives had to devise all manner of ways to use these apples so the husbands wouldn't turn them all into hard cider. This cake was one of their recipes.

I don't know how good the original apple cake was, but it couldn't have been any better than this modern version of it, made with the modern shortening—Crisco—whose delicate flavor allows every little piece of apple to assert itself in the finished deliciousness of the cake. This recipe is simple and quick like all Crisco recipes.

No matter what kind of food I'm cooking, if the recipe calls for a shortening or a fat, I use Crisco—for I sort of grew up on it. It's been in my mother's kitchen for 18 years. We've both always found it sweet and fresh-tasting just as it came from the can. Crisco stays good-tasting, too. And so do foods cooked with it.

DUTCH APPLE CAKE

1 cup flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Crisco
2 egg yolks (save whites for sauce)
½ cup milk
4 apples
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Mix and sift together flour, baking powder, 2 tablespoons of the sugar and salt. Cut in Crisco and add egg yolks mixed with milk. Mix. Pour into shallow Crisco'ed cake pan and top with apples which have been cut into wedge-shaped slices. Sprinkle top with rest of sugar, and the cinnamon and lemon rind and dot with bits of Crisco. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) about 35 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve hot or cold with lemon sauce.

Fluffy Lemon Sauce

Mix one egg, ¼ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch and ¼ teaspoon salt. Add water and cook in double boiler about 5 minutes or until thick, stirring constantly. Then mix in 1 tablespoon Crisco, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and lastly fold in 2 egg whites beaten stiff. This sauce may be served with almost any dessert similar to the Apple Cake.

'BUDDY' ROGERS SCORES TRIUMPH IN PERSONAL APPEARANCES AT MET

FILM STAR IS GIVEN OVATION

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

CHARLES "BUDDY" ROGERS, revealing his own flesh-and-blood self at the Metropolitan for a week, beginning yesterday, shows his audiences that a film star may have a bag o' tricks outside his screen appeal. He goes through a lot of clowning, does some singing and manipulates quite a few musical instruments. Best of all, though, as the audience that he is an on-the-level youth, full of vigor, and altogether the he-man that a son of the Kansas soil should be. There's nothing high-hat about him. In a nutshell, he has a great deal besides screen personality. In person he goes over with even more of a "click" than does his shadow on the silver sheet.

THIS YOUNGSTER is said to top them all in the number of bushel baskets of fanmail that he gets. There can be no doubt of it after seeing the perfect pharmacy of names emerging the Met's doors inside of five minutes after the curtain has given an ovation. Then they repeat. And repeat. Mr. Rogers has won all he's won because he never lets them get either bored or stiff. He's a business-and-pep style of boy conquering himself the whole time he is on the stage. He is at home with the baton with the orchestral trombone, with all the orchestral whatnots, apparently. He drums like a major. He toot-toots the cornet like a past master. He must be said, his voice, though masculinely vibrant in waltz, but it should be considered that the Met is a mighty big theater. His singing comes through much better through the movies.

THE PROGRAM isn't all personal appearance of a film star, Frank Cambria's revue, "Birds of a Feather," is entertaining with a lot of life and color, but stars those vaudeville bird imitators, Ahearn brothers, who can be guaranteed to bring laughter. The Four Carltons are also a well-numbered among the highlights of this piece. As a matter of fact, the audience is apt to like a fine good humor by the time Mr. Rogers shows himself; for the footlight fare leading up to him is excellent.

OF THE FEATURE FILM "The Sea God" is the best that can be said. . . . Not so hot." It has good photography, but has mangled a good story. Hear the audience laughing at the supposedly thrilling, as new episodes! Even some of the actors do not seem to be taking the story seriously. Eugene Pallette does get legitimate laughs but none of the rest possess any. Richard Arlen is the leading hero as the lover-hero, while Fay Wray has her troubles trying to make a weak role keep them keen on at it.

But good features more than make up for a mediocre film. The enlarged orchestra is heard in a splendid rendering of Italian melody. It has a right hand, the revue is above par, while Mr. Rogers brings the public a standpoint as doesn't quite sufficient in himself to fill the house.

The week marks the debut of Ted Mack as master of ceremonies.

When a Widow Gets Playful

GLORIA SWANSON AND WILLIAM HOLDEN
"WHAT A WIDOW," coming to the Loew's State next week, shows Gloria Swanson in one of her greatest roles.

GUS VAN HERE TOMORROW

On the stage of the Keith-Albee tomorrow, Gus Van will get in a spot. The famous team of Van and Schenck is no more. Van and Schenck were one of the great comedy singing and dancing teams of the show business. And when death snatched Joe Schenck a performer's partnership that had lasted for 21 years Van was a Broken man.

Gus Van

In 1927 he had the first car out of the barn at 4:30 a. m. on a certain route to the wee hours, with no protection whatsoever from the cold he almost froze. In 1928, after an accident that left him sore, much unnerved, Van decided that life was "too much of a drive." So he quit the job and went to work in Coney Island cafes.

He decided on a stage career. Then Schenck a friend he met Joe Schenck.

Through the years these two men were inseparable. They lived, worked, ate and sang together. A few months before the age of 30, Joe sang his last song. After the funeral Van went away for a while as a friend to forget. When he returned to New York he felt that work would be the best thing in the world for him. So he accepted a route from the RKO circuit. He opens in one of the neighborhood houses in the Bronx.

Just before he went on he paced about nervously in the wings. He missed the man who had used him to help him. He would have no piano player now on the orchestra. He would sing and act his scenes in a way just that it was no stranger to him. Joe Schenck in the wings and watching Gus was a woman who had never seen her face. She was probably a friend of one of the other acts. But when the new star Gus Van was through she looked at him for a few moments and then determined to help him. She waved over and slapped him on the back.

"Don't be afraid," she said, brightly. "You're going to give a swell show today, Mr. Schenck."

And he did.

CRITICS GIVEN PRAISE

Will Mahoney, featured comedian in the Earl Carroll "Sketch

Will Mahoney

Book," is receiving praise from the critics for his performance. Mr. Mahoney, "dear critics, don't therefore fiddle around in any of them. After one of the performers of the press has harshly criticized a play and a performance the actor throws it over his shoulder by saying, "What does he know about acting." If he knows so much about acting, why is he a critic?

The actor, outside of his ability, gives almost everything to the critic. It is the critic who informs the world, both those in the theatrical business and the mere spectator, just how good the show is. Actors are not made by applause. They are made by critical praise. Applause may sound good to the actor—but it is a thing of the moment and just as floating. When it is set down in print it has a lasting value. It is the good notice that an actor gets that enables him to demand a large salary, and after all that is success.

TOSS-UP DECIDES RIGHTS TO 'COMMON LAW'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Modern Picture Editor Universal Service
Copyright 1930, by Universal Service Inc.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3—This business of remaking plays for talkies which have already been done as silent pictures, often results in difficult situations. Not long ago we announced in this column that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer would make "Common Law," having acquired the silent picture rights from the Selznick family. The Selznicks made it years ago with Clara Kimball Young in the leading role.

At that time we didn't know and neither did M. G. M. that Charles Rogers had purchased the dialogue, play and television rights from A. H. Woods, producer Robert E. Sherwood, author, and Lenard Vail, playwright. Rogers could make the picture, having the rights, and neither could we. The picture was going to give up a good thing.

Louella O. Parsons

After a tug of war which lasted for two weeks Rogers and Irving Thalberg, both busy sports, decided that a toss-up was the only way out. So they met in Thalberg's office and spent two cups of paper in a hat. Rogers drew the winning slip and promptly bought the silent rights from M. G. M. We wouldn't advise producers to try this novel system unless they're lucky.

LEW AYRES has been taken out of "Dracula" the creepy mystery play which I reported to be on. No Lew hasn't been a victim. Quite the contrary. He is being groomed for an important role in M-G-M's all-star story by Edgar Lucien Larmar which goes into production shortly. Robert Ames, who has been one of the best bets at the studio since his success in Holiday, replaces Ayres in Dracula. The latter is under a long term contract, where most of it is already in production with Bela Lugosi, Edward Van Sloan, Helen Chandler and Dwight Frye in the cast. There is no more get-rich-quick for Lew. Lugosi, Broadway actor who specializes in creating eerie atmosphere, is directing and Browning and Garrett Fort are responsible for the adaptation.

Phil Rosen is certainly feeling sorry for those cops. When he was directing "The Spirit of Notre Dame" for Columbia a cop was main figure in the story with the result that Phil received letters from all over the country condemning the film for its unfavorable reflection on the police force. Now he's directing "Officer O'Brien" for Tiffany and the cop is the villain. Phil's getting letters from cops who are not only condemning the picture but threatening to beat him up.

WHEN A GIRL TEACHES school a man can't expect to compete but when she encourages him now and then to do so it makes him a contract. That is, in the movies. Dorothy Jordan, Charles Starrett, Edmund Lowe, Dolores Del Rio, Richard Arlen and James Hall were all at the Embassy the other day when Fanny Brice happened in.

Lowe and Starrett threw a mock wrestling match for her and when she left Lowe and Hall were still wrestling. Fanny Brice has been signed by Florenz Ziegfeld to appear in his new production, "Smiles," which will be her first appearance on the stage in many years. Fanny has been busy with her radio broadcasts and movie imaginations.

MR. WOOLSEY comes to the New B. F. Keith's screen tomorrow in "Half Shot at Sunrise."

SPECIAL SHOW AT KEITH'S

At the new B. F. Keith's tonight at 11:30, and Sunday night at one minute past midnight, performances will be given at which the new Ruby Keeler comedy, "Half Shot at Sunrise," with Robert Woolsey and Bert Wheeler, will have a midnight preview. Half Shot at Sunrise, which Paul Sloane directed, depicts the adventures of two Parisian cabbies who, after a night of revelry, decide to enlist in the French army. Dorothy Lee, Edgar Kennedy and Hugh Cameron are also featured in the picture.

Preparing Next

Having completed the first of the new Mickey Mouse series, "Mickey's Mysterious Mission," Al Herman has started preparations for "Mickey's Circus," the second in which Mickey will be seen as a manager of a circus.

'MONTE CARLO' GOES BIG

Jeanette MacDonald, whose first screen appearance in "The Love Parade" established her in talking pictures, has the feminine lead in "Monte Carlo," now showing at the Orpheum and Uptown. Making her second picture under Ernst Lubitsch, Miss MacDonald plays the role of a countess who, to settle her husband's debts at the altar and three hours later is seeing her bridal chamber with a handsome Don Juan. Playing opposite Miss MacDonald is Jack Buchanan, star of the musical comedy stage.

Universal's special production, "The Boudoir Diplomat," just completed by Malcolm St. Clair, will be filmed simultaneously in French, German, and Spanish. Arlette Marchal has been assigned the lead in the French version. She will be directed by Marcel de Sano, who is at present in Paramount's Paris studio. Errol Taverniers will direct the German version.

Barbara Stanwyck will be supported by Lyle Talbot in her next starring picture under the Columbia banner.

Tiffany announces the completion of the all-talkie version of the old-time picture, "Third Alarm."

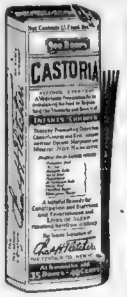
Castoria corrects CHILDREN'S ailments



WHAT a relief and satisfaction it is for mothers to know that there is always Castoria to depend on when babies get fretful and uncomfortable! Weather it's teething, colic or other little upset, Castoria always brings quick comfort, and, with relief from pain, restful sleep.

And when older fast growing children get out of sorts and out of condition, you have only to give a mere liquid dose of this pure vegetable preparation to right the disturbed condition quickly.

Because Castoria is made expressly for children, it has just the proper mildness of action. Yet you can always depend on it to be effective. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment and cannot possibly do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it is the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue, is fretful and out of sorts. Be sure to get the genuine; with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

FORMER GOVERNOR 'AL' SMITH TO SPEAK IN BOSTON OCTOBER 28

DEMOCRATS PLAN BIG PARADE

State Leaders Will Escort the Famous New Yorker to City in Triumph

With former Gov. Al Smith coming to Boston definitely set for Oct. 28, plans for a reception equaling that in 1928 when he was a Presidential candidate were under way today.

Frank J. Donahue chairman of the Democratic state committee said that it had not been decided whether Boston Garden or Boston Arena would be the scene of the reception.

His speech here in the closing days of the state campaign is expected to turn the trick and aid in a Democratic sweep in the election Nov. 4.

The former New York governor will speak in Providence Oct. 27 and then come to Boston. Democratic leaders plan to meet him at Back Bay and escort him in triumph into the city proper.

Mayor Curley was appealed to today to deliver the principal address from the stands erected for the parade of the American Legion until after the former governor had left the city.

300 SPEEDERS IN 'TRAP'

Three hundred motorists, not all of them speeders, were caught in a police trap in Highland ave., Malden, today.

The trap was "sprung" last night by Sergt. John J. Horgan of the traffic squad after an automobile had taken the life of a second child on the thoroughfare within a period of six weeks.

All cases will be summoned to court for violation of the motor laws.

Cupids Hit City

MISS ROSE KELLEY found her monotype machine all "dressed up" when she arrived at the Boston city printing shop, 246 Congress st., yesterday. Early next Thursday morning, at St. Margaret's Church, Dorchester, she will wed Philip A. Petrocelli. (Staff photo.)

CITY HALL PAIR IN ROMANCE

A real City Hall romance will result next Thursday morning in the wedding of Miss Rose A. Kelly of the city printing office and Philip A. Petrocelli of the city collector's office.

Miss Kelly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly of Edison pl., Dorchester. Mrs. Kelly is a cousin of Mayor Curley. Petrocelli, who lives in Columbia rd., is a brother of former Asst. Corp. Counsel P. Nicholas Petrocelli.

The nuptials will take place in St. Margaret's Church at 9 o'clock. After the honeymoon the couple will live on Gallivan boulevard, Dorchester.

The bride received many beautiful gifts from City Hall workers when she resigned her position yesterday.

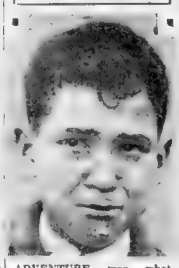
WOMAN JAILED IN AUTO DEATH

Gladys C. Allen, 20, of New York, driver of a car in which Harvey Bernier of George st., Roxbury, was killed last June, was found guilty of operating so as to endanger life of a ward in Dedham district court this morning.

She was fined $50 and sentenced to one month in jail. The verdict was appealed and she was held in $500.

The accident happened June 6. Miss Allen was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, who were returning with her from a pleasure ride when the car struck a tree.

'Lions' of Pain



ADVENTURE was what Johnny Swartz, 13, of Roslindale, and his pal sought. They ran away from home to hunt lions and bears. Police found them in a freight car. Johnny, now home, eats his meals from the shelf.

COSTE'S BACKER FLYING HERE

Col. William E. Easterwood, sponsor of the Paris-New York-Dallas flight made by the French fliers, Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, will arrive in Boston by plane with his wife Sunday morning. Col. Easterwood comes to the Legion convention as a legionnaire representing Dallas, Tex.

At the Boston Airport he will be met by Charles T. Harding, election commissioner representing the mayor, and will be taken to the Ritz Carlton.

Sunday evening, as a special guest, Col. Easterwood will address the Second Congregational Church congregation in Dorchester, and will tell about the Coste-Bellonte flight. A contingent of legionnaires headed by Maj. Charles F. Mums, will be ushers.

Judge Rebukes Jury for $1500 Verdict in Auto Killing

When a jury awarded Howard Hanlon of E st., South Boston, $1500 today in Superior Court for the death of his son, William, 4, Judge Marcus Morton told the jurors he was surprised and later said he would set aside the verdict.

The boy was killed June 7, 1924, by the auto of John Dennis of K st., defendant in the suit.

Judge Morton said the testimony of a woman that the boy was on the curb when struck, was absurd in view of the testimony of a policeman who said the boy ran into the street after a ball.

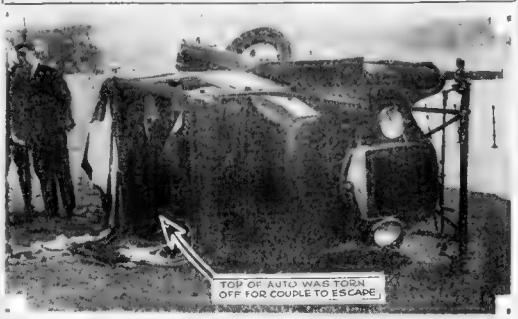
Two Hurt as Auto Is Overturned in Crash



MISS MARGARET JUDGE and Philip Bresnahan, both of Lynn, were injured early today when their machine, parked on Lynn Shore Drive, was struck and overturned by another auto. Police kicked the roof of the car in to extricate Miss Judge and Bresnahan. Police arrested Thomas Farry, of Marblehead, as driver of the other machine.

FUGITIVE AUTO INJURES TWO IN CRASH

Marblehead Man Held After a Collision at Lynn; a Parked Car Upset

Philip Bresnahan of Attleboro st., Lynn, and Margaret Judge of Lynn Shore drive, were injured today when their parked coupe was hurled over an embankment by a car hauled by police.

The couple had parked in front of Miss Judge's home when a powerful machine driven by Thomas Farry of Marblehead crashed into it.

Motorcycle Officer A. S. Hannon of the Merrimac police post, part of the time on the beat of the arresting officer, and Lieut. Herbert Lynch of Lynn Hospital.

Farry was charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Passers, notified by a screaming and the words of Lieut. Lynch, a young man and girl who had after their machine had to have been removed from a fence, pedestrian crashed into an automobile driven by Lieut. Lynch, son of the Lynn fire department.

Policeman's machine was wrecked and the other car tipped over. The man and woman rushed into the woods.

The car is registered to Patrolman Louis Shaw of Revere.

Liberty League Urges Defeat of Butler for Dry Law Stand

Defeat of William M. Butler, Republican national committeeman, is strongly urged in a statement issued today by the executive committee of the Constitutional Liberty League.

The committee consists of Jouett Shouse, Raskob, W. Lovell Jouett, Charles H. Dell, Irenee DuPont, Louis E. Kirstein, Frederick Lowndes, Alexander C. Ewing, Frank Dumont, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Stackpole and David E. Sibley.

The statement of the League reads in part:

"The principal objective of the League in the coming campaign is the repeal of the Baby Volstead Act, as the most effective means available at the moment by which the people of the State as a whole, irrespective of party, can express their views on national prohibition.

"The League is opposed to prohibition as a method of controlling the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages. It is even more opposed to the 18th Amendment as an encroachment upon the rights of the states to regulate their own internal affairs.

"William M. Butler has definitely declared himself in favor of the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act. His stand is absolutely opposed to the fundamental principles of the League.

"Marcus A. Coolidge stands upon a platform which advocates the principles of the League and is a man of high standing, with an honorable record.

"The League strongly urges all citizens to vote 'yes' for repeal of the Baby Volstead Act (question No. 2 on the ballot), to vote for Marcus A. Coolidge for United States senator, and for all candidates for Congress, otherwise qualified, who are in favor of repeal."

Saturday Schedule Rough on Bulldog Soft for Harvard

Digress a Little Two Game Guys Henley and Tad

"Hard Luck for Poor Old Eli, Tough on the Blue"

It looks as if Mal Stevens better put the Bulldog down cellar, [illegible] keep it there until tomorrow, feeding it raw meat. In the [illegible] from Maryland. My Marviand. Eli Yale has a [illegible] hand ass ignment as John Harvard has an easy one. Vermont is expected to furnish Harvard such a light meal that Army [illegible] changed a menu bill of fare, billing an [illegible] with U. S. Coast Guard Academy for the Crimson [illegible] to top off on. But Yale and Maryland, My Maryland, that's a different thing!

[illegible] ing Marylanders

[illegible] into New Haven, [illegible] Yalesmen as a [illegible] Nine members [illegible] Maryland eleven [illegible]

George Underwood

[illegible] skirmishing [illegible] lines are thrown out tomorrow afternoon [illegible] Bay are in the [illegible] Saturday's 90 to 6 defeat of Wasington.

Yale isn't expecting any pink tea. The Blue is looking forward [illegible] just a little [illegible] work from tomorrow when Georgia, confident and cocky from last year's victory over the Bulldog, again invades the Bowl.

Harvard men will watch Yale's game this Saturday and next closely. Stevens, it is expected, will have to uncover something new and to stave off the combined attacks of the Marylanders and Georgians. Of course, the game with Harvard still is Yale's one big objective, just as the Crimson traditional rival always has been and always will be. To win over the Crimson the Blue is still willing to sacrifice all other contests. But the draw with Bill Maryland and the defeat by Georgia last year did not any too well in the craws of the undergraduates, and Yale will feel it deeply if the blots are not wiped off their escutcheon this week-end and next [illegible] it must be remembered that the odds always are in favor of the underdogs. Maryland means little to Yale. Yale means everything to Maryland. The Marylanders have been "pointing" for the encounter with the Blue while the Bulldog, even with last year's tie rankling in its breast, only looks upon the encounter tomorrow as a warm-up for bigger, more important battles to come.

LINES WILL DECIDE

[illegible] will see no reason to change the opinion expressed before practice opened at either Cambridge or New Haven, viz., that both Yale and Harvard have the greatest back field material in the history of the two institutions and that the issue in the big game next November will be decided by the [illegible] and lowdays [illegible]

When two elevens of such apparently even but widely strength clash. Fortune is on the side of the strongest line. If the truth were known, the line more often than not, decides the issue even when one backfield is vastly superior to the other. The football lineman is one of the most underestimated, undervalued fellows on the terrestrial globe. To the lineman only the knocks and blisters of the game; to the backs go the glory and the spoils.

Fame, applause, headlines, fame, are food for the soul of the backfield star. For them a youngster will undergo, endure almost anything. The football lineman gets nothing but a satisfied conscience. It's fun for him to bather down the walls and open the [illegible] for the [illegible] to fame and glory. He gets [illegible] the backs get the headlines. He takes his black eyes with a grin. Sometimes one thinks that it was of the football lineman Henley was thinking when he wrote those immortal lines:

It matters not how strait the gate
How charged with punishment the scroll
I am the Master of my Fate,
I am the Captain of my Soul.

But no. Did you ever hear how Henley came to write the immortal "Invictus," from whence the above lines were quoted? Most of you probably remember more of it. What is the line that comes between "Under the buffeting of chance I have not winced or cried aloud"—we quote from memory, perhaps wrongly—and "My head is bloody, but unbowed"? Anyway, did you ever hear where and how Henley wrote that soul-arousing poem? Queer tale for a sporting column, perhaps, but the tale hangs from a real victory and Henley certainly proved himself a real "sport."

HOW HENLEY WROTE IT

Henley was afflicted with a terribly diseased foot. The doctors told him the only hope of life rested in amputation. In dire distress he went to Dr. Lister, the great Lister.

I will save your foot and your life," said the great Lister, "or rather you can save your foot and your life, if you will promise not to quit, but no matter how hard and long the struggle, fight on to victory. It is not me who must win; it is you."

Henley was two years—two whole years—in the hospital.

Most of those two years were years of excruciating suffering and pain. It was while he lay on that bed of pain he inscribed those immortal lines. They would not have been possible if he himself was not "master of his fate" and "captain of his soul."

Once upon a time we were asked to write a story based on who, of all the champions we ever had seen, in football, the ring, athletics, sports of all kinds, was the most courageous, [illegible] "game."

So we sat down and spun a yarn entitled "The Gamest Guy I Ever Knew."

Who do you think was the hero?

No, no football star, no fighter, no athlete of any kind.

The fellow we wrote about was Thomas A. Dorgan—yes, good old Tad—cartoonist, artist, fight expert, philosopher. Tad, like Henley, suffered—suffered with his chin up, laughter in his eye, inextinguishable humor in his soul! Tad was the gamest guy I ever knew, or hope to know. Some day, perhaps, we'll tell you more of him

Rochester Wins Minor League Title

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 2 (US)—The Rochester Red Wings became the minor league champions by trouncing the Louisville Colonels, 5 to 1, here, in the eighth game of the little world series.

George Grant pitched for the Red Wings and although touched for 11 safeties by the Colonels kept them well scattered. Rochester pounded Wilkinson for 12 hits

Cubs Even Up City Series With Sox

Chicago, Oct. 2 (US)—The Cubs evened the city series against the White Sox at one game each, by taking a 4 to 2 verdict here.

Sheriff Bake held the Chisox to five hits while the Bruins garnered eight off Caraway and Moore, including a homer by Cuyler.

LONG DRILL FOR EAGLE SQUAD

Coach Joe McKenney sent the Boston College football squad through the longest workout of the season in preparation for the expected rugged contest with the Quantico Marines at Fenway Park next Monday afternoon. The game will be played as a feature of the legion program and no pieces of service men on the field as well as in the stands, offering color to the Eagles first real test of the year.

Capt. Jimmy Dixon continued to watch activities from the side-lines, but his keen perception of the signal drills, and his football sense will enable him to step into the lineup at any time, if his services are needed. On the other hand, Harry Downes took part in the scrimmage trial of several new plays against the scrubs and seemed ready to go when Andy Anderson [illegible]

A whole new set of plays made necessary by Dixon's absence were tried out for the first time. The formations included lateral passes, running plays and forward passes. The tentative starting eleven gave the formations a thorough workout against a team of scrubs, before a long signal drill.

In the first eleven, was Ed Gallagher and Joe McDonnell at ends, Bill Bennett and Emil Tomaszewski at tackles, Al Morelli and Dick [illegible] at guards and Anderson in center.

Four Straight Victories Is Aim of Macks, Says Foxx

By JIMMIE FOXX
First Baseman of Philadelphia Athletics

Copyright 1930 by Universal Service, Inc.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3—We gave the Cards a new diet in the second tilt. The right-handed speed of George Earnshaw was even more effective than the southpaw hooks of Lefty Grove, the result being another Athletic victory.

[illegible] opinion of the series [illegible] has been the prominent [illegible] of the game stand out [illegible] for extra bases.

[illegible] during a four year [illegible] over in his back pants pocket during the game, but he didn't need it. He was never in trouble, and only a home run by Watkins prevented a shutout.

It has been our aggressiveness — getting the jump on the other fellow, that has pulled us through twice to victory and we leave for St. Louis determined to make it four straight.

I [illegible] Haas will oppose [illegible] game in the Mack [illegible] as we have been quite [illegible] effective against southpaws all year. I cannot see how we figure to stop it.

Foxx Lists Crucial Plays of Second Battle

In every game there are several plays on which victory or defeat hinge. Here, in my opinion, were the outstanding points of the second game:

1—Sparky Adams' beautiful stop and the throw of Dykes' grounder in the first. It saved the Cards a run, as Cochrane followed with a homer. However, we got another when I drove Simmons home with a double. The Cardinals' infield has certainly lived up to all the things said about it before the series.

2—Bishop's muff of Bottomley's foul and Cochrane's bad throw trying to catch Frisch stealing in the second. Then Dykes slipped going after Haas's foul, after which Haas fanned. We gave the Cards all kinds of chances to do something in this inning, but they refused to take advantage of the breaks. Perhaps the Cards expected us to make their runs for them.

3—Dykes' double in the fourth, which drove in two runs, made the score 6 to 1 and practically put the game on ice. Simmons also chased Rhem out of the box.

4—Dykes' catch of Frisch's terrific liner in the eighth and his throw to me, which doubled Sparky Adams, who had singled. Any diving chance that the Cards had went right there.

Of course any team looks good when it gets good pitching. The A's, however, have excelled in every department of the game in the series so far.

Cochrane Deserves Credit for Athletics' Success

Much of the credit for our success over the Cards so far must go to Mickey Cochrane. I would say that he's greatness lies not so much in his batting ability and his prowess as one of the greatest mechanics catchers of all time, but in his using the old bean all the time.

Most of the fans probably do not realize that in the opening game, Grove was not at his best. His customary blinding speed was missing. Many a pitcher might have weakened when Watkins hit a home, making the score on [illegible] 2 to 1 in our favor.

But in both instances, it was Mickey's uncanny ability as a tactician that pulled both Grove and Earnshaw through.

I asked Grove and Earnshaw if I was not right in this and they both said "yes," with emphasis. So I guess that makes it unanimous.

FUGAZY IN HUB AFTER BIG BOUT

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

Humbert Fugazy, New York fight promoter, arrived in town today. Mr. Fugazy is here to complete arrangements with Leo Bagley, manager of Jack Sharkey, Ameican heavyweight champion for a ring contest to be staged in Boston next year.

Sharkey, personally, would prefer to meet Carnera next summer either in New York or Chicago as headliners for the end of the month in Atlantic City. The only hitch is that Sharkey demands a guarantee of $100,000 and a privilege of 20 per cent.

Sharkey, personally, would prefer to meet Carnera next summer either in New York or Chicago

STREETMEN UNDER HEAVY HANDICAP AS SERIES SHIFTS TO ST. LOUIS

By JOE CASHMAN

Columbus, O., Oct. 3—The St. Louis Cardinals still believe that they will beat out the Philadelphia Athletics for the baseball championship of the universe, but nobody else does, as the World Series caravan is traveling westward today.

Only two games have been played and the Streetmen are already two down to their American League rivals.

After their performance in the second game, most of the experts are predicting that the Cards will lose four games in a row, just as they did to the Yanks in '28 and as the Pirates did to the same club in '27, and that when the current engagement is over it will be recorded that the one victory of the Chicago Cubs over the Athletics last year was the National League's lone World's Series triumph in 17 starts or since 1926.

There has been a lot of talk in recent years to the effect that the American League is stronger and faster and superior in every other respect from top to bottom, than the senior circuit.

Since each loop as equal opportunity to secure players, we never have accepted the theory but we are about to at this writing, and certainly will if the Cards don't win more than one game in this series.

In the first game the Cards looked just as formidable as the As and lost apparently because they were out-lucked

Cards Looked Worse Than Lowly Red Sox

That wasn't the case in the second game, though. They were not only never in the running but they didn't even play well enough to put on how Red Sox fans of last August did.

The Streetmen held their own in the field and at the bat as much pep and courage as the opposition and made only one less hit, yet they were licked by a margin of five runs.

In two games they have outhit the Macknen 15 to 12 but have been outscored 11 to 3, the only answer we can offer for the riddle is that the American League must be far more formidable than the National as commonly believed.

Some of the experts, including [illegible] are now picking the Athletics as the favorites in the current series. The Yanks of '27 and '28 were one of those super outfits that [illegible] only once every dozen years. Their feat of winning eight straight World Series contests proved their own greatness more than it proved any weakness on the part of the National League victims.

The As, on the other hand are not as strong as they were a year back and are probably weaker than the shadow of American league champions of the past.

Hallahan to Hurl for Cards Tomorrow

So, if the Cards can't extend this series to at least six games and make a much better showing in defeat than they did yesterday, there will no longer be any doubt about American League supremacy in our mind, at least.

Wild Bill Hallahan, southpaw wizard is the Cards last hope. He goes to the mound in the opening game in St. Louis tomorrow.

If he wins it won't do the Streetmen a whole lot of good unless Grove can come back in Riccardo Bertazzolo, Italy, vs. Jose Santa, Portugal, 10 rounds.

First Bout, 8.15 p. m.
Main Bout, 10.00 p. m.

By JACK CONWAY.

Jose Santa, Portuguese ring giant, will make his Boston debut tonight when he clashes with Riccardo Bertazzola in a 10-round bout at an Argonne A. A. show at the New Boston Arena.

Santa is six feet nine inches tall. He has engaged in 24 battles in Europe and in six in this country and has met with only one defeat.

He appeared at Saints Peter and Paul Hall one night last week and Solomon after 10 minutes of battling.

In addition to being 6 feet 9 inches tall Santa weighs 270 pounds. He is one of those who pose with a blanket around his shoulders. He has signed a blanket contract with the Argonne A. A. and the mark of the Argonne A. A. will be on the blanket when Santa meets Bertazzola.

Jack Conway is to meet Jose Santa for Jim Maloney, Jack Farrell and Larry Sullivan of Cohasset. Santa has been a good box office attraction wherever he has shown in Boston. At the Premier Bat Club's Garden 4000 fans were turned away when Santa appeared the night of Tommy Ryan. It is to get a piece of Jose.

Bertazzola Is Also a Ring Giant

Bertazzola is a well built man of the tall, lean and rangy type. He is six feet three and a half inches tall. In his former appearances in Boston he proved he can stand up under heavyweight punishment. He contends Santa is much overrated and will be walked into an early defeat tonight.

Santa, on the other hand, will be supported by a strong premonition that he will win.

Carnera Will Return to Hub Today

Primo Carnera, following an exhibition at Revere, N. J., will be back in the Hub today to complete training for his 10-round bout with Tom Maloney, which will be staged at the Boston Garden on next Tuesday night. Carnera will train at Natick, the same camp he occupied at Wellesley.

Meanwhile Maloney is settling into condition at a camp in Quincy. Shamus pens to the fact that he is heavier than Primo Carnera and has no fear of Italy's big fighter.

Jack Conway Picks Santa to Beat Bertazzola

Jack Conway today picked Jose Santa to win over Riccardo Bertazzola in their 10-round bout at the Arena tonight.

"Santa is a fair boxer and should be able to outscore Bertazzola,' said Jack. "I am anxious to get my first glimpse of the six-foot, nine-inch Portugese giant in action."

Brown Drills on Passing Offense

Providence, R. I., Oct. 3—Brown continues its preparation for Princeton, a week from Saturday, with a two-hour practice on forward passing and defence.

Considerable work on this phase of Brown's attack has been done, although the Bears attempted nothing in this line against Rhode Island, and are expected to resort to it very little against Worcester Tech tomorrow.

The week's practice has been wholly with the Princeton game in view.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

Primo Carnera Appears at Radio Show Tonight

Preparations have been made at the Radio Show to make a special platform from which Primo Carnera will greet the thousands there tonight. Arrangements were made between Leon See, Carnera's manager, and Sheldon N. Fairbanks, director of the Radio Show at the Boston Garden, to present the Italian fighter.

The agreement signed by the fighter's manager reads: "I agree to have Primo Carnera in person at the Boston Garden Friday, October 3, to be presented to the public as a sponsor of radio. It is agreeable to me to have advance publicity of the event in all Boston newspapers." The document was signed by Leon See, as manager for Primo Carnera.

This will be the only public appearance of the Italian man-mountain here before he fights Jim Maloney on Tuesday night in the Garden.

Boxer Drops Dead During Bout in Iowa

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 3 (INS)—An inquest was to be held today into the death of Battling Nelson, Waterloo welterweight fighter, who collapsed and died in the ring here last night.

Nelson fell unconscious at the end of the fifth round of his semi-windup bout with Kid Leonard of East Moline, Ill. Before he died Nelson rallied twice as Dr. R. A. Vordahl, coroner, worked over him with the aid of two other physicians.

Dr. Vordahl ascribed the fighter's death to overexertion and possible heart failure.

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
"Golf's Greatest Teacher"

You golfers want to hit 'em far. What is the secret that gets that extra distance? You acquire what appears to be a good swing and you master it work in smooth rhythmic fashion—and still your drives stop at 200 yards and your mates don't get up there. A good many secrets have been advanced as each in its promises the certain realization to this long sought and much fought golfing attainment. I maintain that the way to distance is found in your left arm and the way you use it. In the sketches a pictured Clarence Gaines of Punta Rassa, Fla., who ranks as among the closest hitters we have. Note the position of his left arm at the top of his back swing. It is high. Get your left arm there and distance will be yours.

B. C. HIGH BOYS TO GET A LESSON IN 'ENGLISH'

THE JUNIOR EAGLES, from Boston College high school, meet English today at Fenway Park and hope to chalk up their second victory of the season. Gus Soffriti, halfback, and Tom Brennan, an end, are shown going through their paces while Don Blanchard and Jim Moran, veteran tackles, team up for a crash into the hostile frontier. The Eaglets, coached by Art McManus, are once more listed among the best schoolboy elevens.

Boston English and B. C. H. Clash at Fenway Park Today

By BILL CONNELL

A new Boston College high backfield will be ready for the attack on Boston English this afternoon at Fenway Park when these old rivals meet in their annual football fray at 3 p. m.

Jack Morris, junior and first string back of last year's eleven, will quarterback the B. C. H. forces. Morris was hurt early last week and so was not able to appear against Cambridge Latin in the opening game, which was won by the Eaglets. The ranky backs in good shape again and should strengthen his team a lot.

Gus Soffriti played a great game against the Cantabs last week and he will be in at fullback today for the Maroon and Gold team. Frank Good and George Mahoney are the halfbacks.

Leo Daley has some fast, smart backs this year in Mooney, quarterback Freno, Joyce and Scanlon and they may match every big the Eagles' backfield has to offer.

The game today will develop into a battle of the lines. B. C. H. has a fairly heavy front wall with two powerful tackles, Moran and Blanchard, playing side by side on defense on the strong end of the unbalanced line. As most of the B. C. Short End Bettors Lose Heavily on World Series

BROADWAY BOYS FIGURED CARDS WOULD PROVE BETTER THAN A'S

By DAMON RUNYON

Copyright, 1930 by Universal Service Inc.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3—The Broadway boys are very, very sad today.

There is nothing sadder than a sad Broadway boy.

He ages five years in five minutes. Pouches as big as mail bags form under his eyes

The reason for the sadness of the Broadway boys, was the second defeat of the St. Louis Cardinals in the second game of the World's Series of 1930 by old Cornelius McGillicuddy's Philadelphia Athletics by a score of 6 to 1.

Damon Runyon

The Broadway boys had came bulging over as strong as anything at the 7, 8 and finally 9 to 5 that was offered by the loyal Philadelphians on their beloved A's.

The Broadway boys had a smoking idea that the Philadelphians hadn't heard of the Card nals, and their mighty spurt to the National League pennant. There hasn't been as much money for a club in the World's Series as there was for the Cardinals since Honus Wagner was a recruit. Naturally there had to be even more for the A's.

Well the Broadway boys took that 7 to 5, or what-have-you until they were blank in the face, and were somewhat moist in the eye, and found fault with the whole scheme of baseball, and it is a safe bet that the Cardinals of an unlovely bird brood in the lurk when Burleigh Grimes was licked after heaving remarkable baseball

"Smart Money" Men Lose Heavily on Series

So the Broadway boys telephoned home "good game, send more money," and formed a line to the right with fresh currency in their hands, and begged the obliging Philadelphians to let 'em have lots of that 6-to-5 that the inmates of the Quaker City hung out for the second game

All the big high shots from around Fiftieth and Broadway, where the Bismarck herring grows, were to have together the and favor of the home towners

Never in history was there such a decastation of "smart-money." The maimed and wounded are all over Broad st., and the Philadelphians now have enough change to take care of the winter overhead.

You see, the Broadway boys couldn't figure that George Earnshaw, the big right-hander of the world's champions, was going to step out and pitch as classy a ball game as any World Series pepper pot Jr. Connie old Cornelius McGillicuddy was putting poor when he used up Lefty Grove, and they liked Gabby Street's boy starting Ford Rhem. They liked it very much at 5 to 6's.

If you chance upon a Broadway boy walking his favorite street in the wee small hours, talking to himself, you will understand that he was with the contingent that came to ruin in Philadelphia

Six Scattered Blows All Cards Collected

Six scattered blows one a home run by Watkins, are all that Earnshaw allowed the Cardinals, while the lusty pounders behind him—Bill Dykes, Cochrane, Simmons, and the others — were putting extra bases in their punches against Flint Rhem.

They finally drove Flint from the box. You may recall that Flint is the young man who was said to have been kidnaped while in New York by a sinister band of bewhiskered gents to dispose a lot of hard liquor.

Of course, any kind of liquor in New York is very hard, and perhaps Flint is still suffering from the effects of same. The New York liquor has been known to ack with one for years and years.

Anyway, Flint got a good pasting on the A's and he was succeeded by various young gentlemen who seemed to be named Lindsey, and Johnson, and so on. The redoubtable Mickey Cochrane got himself another homer during the melee, though to tell you the truth, homers are becoming something of drug on the market.

An error by the usually sure-fisted Frankie Frisch helped the A's to some of their tallies, but they only needed their first two behind the pitching of Earnshaw.

As he struck out Mancuso, the Cardinals' catcher, in the ninth, for the final out, Earnshaw leaped high in the air and kicked his heels together. Then he shambled with all the speed of a delighted camel over to the A's bench, where old Cornelius McGillicuddy, who had been swindling another program throughout the long afternoon, shook him by the hand.

The other A's gathered about the cancelling form of Earnshaw and smacked him on the back, while the cheers of 23,000 citizens bounced off his ears

The Cardinals left the field as dejected as the Broadway boys, who remained seated in the stands for some time after the game, wondering if it might not be a good scheme to go and jump in the Schuylkill and end it all

Outcome of Game Settled in 1st Inning

It was rather a listless game for some reason

As far as the result was concerned it was all over in the first inning, which was when Cochrane hit his home run, a blow over the short right field wall after two were out. The tremendous Al Simmons and Jimmy Foxx placed a two-bagger and a single end-to-end for another marker, and that was the ball game

All the rest was mere detail, centering mainly about the masterly pitching of Earnshaw, and the fielding—especially the infielding—behind him. You can't offer any alibis for only one run

With the rise and fall of his brawny right arm, big Earnshaw had the Cards hitting the ball into the air, or at the fielders, and it chanced that the fielders always seemed to be right in the track of the Cardinal drives, that was Gabby Street's tough luck, or perhaps the generalship of old Cornelius McGillicuddy in shifting his fielders around

You could see the lean leader of the A's motioning his men in, or out, and to the right, and left as each Cardinal batsman stepped forward, like a man playing chess with living pawns Old Connie manipulated his manuscripts with his program, and he was rarely wrong

The series is moving, hay and buggery, and Judge Landis, by special trains to St. Louis for the third game of the series, which now stands 2 to 0 in favor of the A's

The Broadway boys will not accompany the caravan. It costs money to make the trip to St Louis. The Broadway boys now have nothing that they can use for money.

This sporting life, well, it is tough.

SERIES SHIFTS TO ST. LOUIS

the count on Sunday If he loses the series will end in games.

We think that the venerable one will gamble with one of our second stringers. It would be the smart thing to do and the talk Indian usually does the smart thing

Hallahan, at his very best would probably beat Grove with only a two day rest and a Cardinal win tomorrow would make it imperative for the A's to have an ace like Robert Moses ready to pit against Lefties on Sunday.

Manager Mack had his doubts about Earnshaw's ability, but it has no longer after watching Swarthmore Georgie in that second game

The big right-hander was shaky at the start, allowing four of the six hits he gave the enemy during the entire game to be made in the first two innings, and the A's built up a busy place with Walberg, Shores and Rommel warmin' up.

But he settled down at the start of the third and yielded only two singles. He gave only one pass and fanned seven during the remainder of the game

As good as he was, though, he might never have finished had Manager Gabby Street of the Cards been willing to take a long gamble in the second inning

After the A's had counted twice in the first, one a homer of Cochrane a single by Simmons and a double by Foxx, it was apparent that it wasn't Flint Rhem's day.

Pinch Hitter for Rhem Might Have Saved Cards

The pitcher was allowed to bat however, and fanned and then Douthit came out and the Cards were done for the day

A safety by a pinch-hitter would have tied the game and certainly driven Earnshaw to the showers. A sacrifice by a pinch hitter would have tied the count and kept the National Leaguers in the game as the A's failed to make a hit off either Jim Lindsey or Sylvester Johnson, who finished up for the Cards.

Street lost the game and possibly the series by his reluctance to take out a pitcher who wasn't showing a thing.

The two runs the Macks made off Rhem in the third were unearned inasmuch as Cochrane reached on a Frisch error with two down but there was nothing fluky about the double Simmons hit to score Cochrane or the single Miller produced to send Simmons home

A double by Jimmy Dykes following a single by Boley and a walk by Bishop gave the A's their last two runs and sent Rhem to the showers with one gone in the fourth.

Second Game Sidelights

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 3—There have been four homers hit in the series to date. Cochrane has hit two Simmons one and Watkins one Those made by the Athletics stars would have been pop outs on Braves Field and would probably have been caught at Fenway.

Watkins' four-baser was a mighty smash that landed in a doorway of a house across the street from the right field fence and would have landed far up in the jury box at the Wigwam

When Frisch doubled in the first inning it was his 43rd World Series hit, which is a record. The former mark of 41 was held by Eddie Collins of the Athletics.

The ten-bagger was the Fordham flash's only hit of the game, but he was robbed of another double by a spectacular catch by Jimmy Dykes. Frankie also stole the only base of the series to date when he pilfered second in the third and continued on to third when Cochrane threw to center field.

Cochrane tipped his hat to the Cardinal bench warmers when he first stepped to the plate. Then Rhem threw one at him that nearly took his head off. Did it scare Mickey? Look at the box score The next pitch he drove out of the lot for the first run of the game A star of stars, this Bridgewater boy.

When a ball player has the good fortune to have the opposition drop an easy foul fly, he usually comes through with a hit, but two of the Cards' experienced this good luck in the third and both fanned. Bottomley hit a fly in foul territory back of first which Bishop dropped after getting in his glove. Sammy Jim then missed a third strike Hafey followed with an easy foul pop near third which Dykes was all set to catch when he fell down and the ball landed on the ground Bespectacled Chick then took a third one.

Taylor Douthit and Jim Bottomley are two of the Cards' best hitters in the regular season, but neither seems to be able to do anything with the stick in a World Series. Both were failures in the '28 classic and neither has made a hit against the A's.

In the opening game the A's made their five runs in five different innings. In the second encounter they collected their tallies in pairs, scoring twice in the first, third and fourth frames

Bottomley Expects Cards Will Win on Home Grounds

By JIM BOTTOMLEY

First Baseman of St. Louis Cardinals

Copyright, 1930, by [illegible]

Philadelphia, Oct. 3—It was Earnshaw's speed that had us out on a limb in the second game. We tried to break it, but you can't overcome a five-run lead very easily against the brand of ball George was chucking

But it strikes me that we are far from being a defeated team. In the future games, everything looks to be in our favor.

The next three games will be played in our home town, with indications being that Hallahan will be the best to oppose the Macks in the next clash.

If any of the Cardinal rooters are discouraged, let them remember that it was our ability to come from behind and win during the regular league season that brought us the pennant.

And I look for this same fighting spirit to carry us through to victory in this series.

We have always been at our best under difficulties—and I will gladly admit that we have difficulties now with two victories to overcome—but we have the old urge to win which is the most important asset of any team.

I feel Gabby Street's choice of Rhem as the starting pitcher in the second game showed the "big ness" of our manager. Flint may be a queer bird in some respects—but aren't we all? As it turned out, Rhem was pasted pretty hard but then anybody can guess right the second time.

Earnshaw Improved as Game Went on

I had a good chance to put the Cards in the run column in the first, after Frisch had doubled, but my best effort was a fly to Haas. This was the first time I got the ball out of the infield during the series. Like Grove, Earnshaw has the reputation of being a fast-ball pitcher, but he didn't appear especially so to me in the first inning. But he got better as the game went on.

Then was hit hard in the first and some of the fans thought he should have been taken out for a pinch hitter in the second, when we had two men on base and only one out. But I think Gabby was right here. We were only trailing [illegible] touchdown

Bottomley Thinks Rhem Pitched a Good Game

When the A's scored two more runs in the fifth, Rhem left the game altogether. Frankie, I don't think he pitched such bad ball—he seemed to have as much stuff as he ever did—but when he put one over the pan, the Mackian murderers rose just lammed it.

As we take the train for our home town, I cannot help but feel that we will benefit from a change of scenery. Gabby Street summed up the situation pretty well tonight when he said

"I am not a bit discouraged. The A's beat us both games because they got the jump on us. In the St. Louis games, I hope and honestly expect the procedure to be reversed."

I do not care who the A's start against us tomorrow I not only think we can beat him—but I think we will knock him out of the box

Brown-Nichols Eleven Beaten

The 150-pound Harvard varsity football team defeated Browne & Nichols, 12 to 0, in an informal tilt at Soldiers Field. Hutchins and Wood starred, hauling the touchdowns for the Crimson. Hutchins, who likewise added the extra point with a dropkick after his touchdown

The Chief had hardly risen up before he reseated himself. I didn't know that kind of talk, though. Frederick's voice was hard.

"Hello, Chief," came the cheery voice of Goldie. "I just wanted to know how you feel."

The connection was severed. The chief entered the operator to trace the call. It had come from a booth in a cigar store on North Dearborn st. The operator reported. The Chief sank back in his chair, aghast. He sighed and lighted a cigar. Then he laid it down on the edge of his desk and forgot it was about it.

A. L. AIR SHOW WILL START TOMORROW

By GEORGE HAMBLIN

The American Legion Air Show which opens at Boston Airport tomorrow was brought to greater magnitude of famous fliers and ships on a New England airport.

Announcement of the attendance of Capt. Frank M. Hawks, transcontinental speed flyer, who left Los Angeles at 12:30 a.m. Pacific standard time, was made today. Capt. Hawks is expected to land at the airport at 2 p.m. (Eastern standard time) from New York to Boston. The record of 82 minutes to beat is that of Lieut. Wood.

George MacIntosh of Boston, famous Polish Relief pilot, who flew to Camp with a load of food from Florida and who experienced trouble in the purchase of gasoline at Jacksonville, Fla., will be present.

Entries for the Legion's annual national reliability air tour, one of the features of the show, and the Pulitzer and Thompson trophy races, which will be held on Saturday, have been received.

WOMEN ENTER

Women pilots from Boston will be Mrs. Frances Grayson Smith, Mrs. Ruth Rhodes Keith, Mrs. M. Barrett Rogers and Miss Ruth Mathews. Other women pilots expected to enter the meet are Mrs. Ruth Nichols, Miss Phoebe Omlie and Miss Louise Thaden.

Mrs. B. G. Erwin, former special manager of the Curtiss Flying Service of New England, believes the present system was developed will arrive in Boston tonight to take care of the flying of Jimmie Doolittle and Jimmie Haislip, the two Shell fliers. Doolittle will be at the controls of a Lockheed Vega and Haislip will fly a Travel Air Monoplane.

HEADQUARTERS OPEN

Air meet headquarters have been established on the port, center office room in the administration building with Maj. Le Boutillier, chairman, and Capt. Clarence Hodge, event manager, in charge. Capt. Hodge's duties will be assisted by the other members of the committee.

"New England's greatest aerial demonstration is almost ready to begin," said Maj. Boutillier today. "We have tried to make the program one which will entertain and thrill everyone who visits Boston airport during the eight days. We think that we will have succeeded in giving our spectators if carries keep rolling in like they have."

Tom Cross veteran pilot, has sponsored the Boston air meet and manager Joe Agnew is in charge. Seaways of Essex, on and painting it and getting it in shape generally for the big show.

The Fokker is one of the three originally used by Commander Richard Evelyn Byrd on his first flight over the South Pole. It was purchased by Mr. Cross from Byrd and carried the explorer on his flight from New York to Paris in the cabin in the nose of the cockpit for water in the open.

Serious Throat Trouble Should Be Treated Promptly

Beware of "Trench" Mouth

By R. S. COPELAND, M. D.

"VINCENT'S Angina" is an infectious inflammation of the mucous lining of the tonsils and throat. It is commonly known as "trench mouth." The disease is supposed to be caused by a special and peculiar germ. It sometimes is present in diphtheria, but is caused by a special and peculiar germ.

Dr. Copeland

Ulcers and patches of membrane appear in the mouth and throat. There are headache, general discomfort, continued fever and high temperature. Very characteristic are the pain and swelling in the neck particularly in the salivary glands under the lower jaw. The symptoms are long continued and not so severe as in the ordinary types of sore throat.

It is a disease that may be associated with abscessed teeth, diseased gums, and all forms of dental trouble. Everyone should understand what a menace to health a diseased mouth is. The broken and ulcerated areas are swimming in pus germs. Such surfaces may become infected at any time with dangerous germs. Persons who are debilitated and who neglect cleanliness of the mouth are particularly liable to attack by the germs of Vincent's Angina.

There is a close resemblance existing between tonsilitis, diphtheria and Vincent's Angina. It is only in the laboratory that the true nature of the disease can be determined. For this reason any unusual throat trouble should come under a doctor's care. Then if the disease is found to be Vincent's Angina the patient should be under strict supervision until the symptoms have disappeared.

Immediate attention must be given to the patient's general condition. Teeth and gums should be looked after by a competent dentist. It is particularly important to have the patient see to it that there is utmost cleanness of the mouth and infected tract. The tonsils, mouth and throat must be kept clear of the membrane. A cleansing spray, wash or gargle should be used. The patient should avoid the use of alcohol and tobacco during the progress of the disease. The physician will advise about the diet.

Answers to Health Queries

D. T. Are salts harmful to the kidneys?

3—Do you advise treatment for swollen and inflamed eyes?

1 What kind of exercise is good for reducing a large abdomen?

A.—Salts should only be taken occasionally. If they are taken for constipation this trouble should be corrected by proper diet.

2—Yes. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

3—The old-fashioned and often-talked-about exercise — namely one bending and bending and touching the floor without bending the knees. As well as recommended. However, do not forget that consistent daily practice is essential. You should watch your diet, too.

HONORABLE MENTION

The master, to impress on his pupils the need of thinking before speaking, told them to wait 30 for anything important and 100 for anything very important.
Next day he was speaking, standing with back to the fire, when he noticed several lips moving rapidly. Suddenly the whole class shouted:
"Ninety-eight, ninety-nine, a hundred! Your coat's on fire, sir!"

Decorative Lamps and Mirror

Chinese

NEW YORK Oct. 3—Fashion-knowing folks are having fun with lamps and mirrors these days. They're finding out that these two useful objects have a real decorative value. And that by bringing either or both into a room, all sorts of pleasant surprises can be achieved.

LAMPS ARE working overtime in its fall. Their job used to be just to give light. Now they have to give color as well.

Become a skilful ... about the right size for a smart spot of accent color in a room.

Contrast Note

Today's decorative schemes tend to the use of tones of one color. But to prevent monotony, an occasional note of contrast is introduced—a clear, definite contrast, or a brilliant shade of the main color in the room.

You can get this brilliant accent in lamps now either in solid colors or patterned lamps.

For instance. Colors like lacquer red, white, turquoise, blue, bright yellow or rose—the pure, clear colors that can't be used in ... to the best piece of furniture effectively in a lamp

Painted Lamps

In those bright painted metal or wood lamps for the lovely porcelains.

Vase lamps, urn and column shapes, twin-arm and candlestick lamps can always be found in these materials and colors. Or in the Chinese porcelains with their colorful flowered designs. Or in celadon lamps with their odd pale gray green coloring.

Lampshades either carry out the color of the lamp base or are in a color that harmonizes and keeps the whole lamp a unit.

Want a bit of advice in choosing your lamp for color? Buy the shade when and where you buy the lamp. Put the two together and try them with a light.

It may take a little more time—but may save you disappointment when you get them home.

Now you want to make your room look larger? Place a mirror so it reflects that part of the room you'd like to increase.

Bigger mirrors are ... table group in the hall or at one end of the room? Hang a mirror over the tube.

Do you want an interesting spot of color on a wall? Place a mirror to reflect some object in that color

Simple Shapes

But what kind to choose? Well—fashionable 1830 mirrors are simple in shape with interest usually concentrated in the frame. And the frames are generally of wood.

Youth find that more mirrors definitely copy period styles than ... We ... because more furniture that reproduces period styles is being used.

That's why you see so many of the round, convex mirrors—the ... so ... are ... called. They look so well in Colonial rooms ... because they are Colonial.

Chinese Frames

Simple Chinese lacquered frames are fine in Queen Anne Rooms Trumeau mirrors—the kind with the picture in the top are excellent in both French provincial and Colonial rooms And the picture adds a second decorative note.

Try one of these at a strategic spot and see how much more interesting your room immediately becomes.

BOSTON'S LUCKY GIRL

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Mrs. Farnsworth Is Told That She Is Under Charge of Murder

CHAPTER 38

MARY PAIGE took her girl in her arms and held her close. She had determined to be brave, even a little haughty. To show these people that she wasn't taking their foolish red tape the least bit seriously. Her son-in-law was dead—God rest him—and her daughter, poor child, was being held until after the inquest and all. The ponderous law must take its course, and a person had to put up with it . . . But Cathie calling her "mama" made her forget all that. It took her back so far . . . made her realize so vividly . . . Her little girl, her little girl, in this place.

Her tears rained on Cathie's curly head.

"You shouldn't have come here," Cathie said thickly.

Mary Paige tried to answer, shook her head. Cathie watched her, sick with shame. Saw her mother's bent, humble head, her good black dress, the black silk gloves.

Mourning Garb

Black . . . Ma was wearing black, too . . . For her son-in-law who was dead, or her daughter whom they took to jail? Ma never ... all in black" she said gently. It was the very Ma had worn long ago for her dead husband.

"It doesn't matter," Mary Paige said brokenly. "I only put it on to hide me face. The . . . the shock. I—I can't look at people yet, Cathie."

Cathie looked down at her own hands, folded in her lap. They looked strange to her, because they were ringless. She had left her rings in a jewel box that night. She thought, "Who'd ever think that I who was home with Ma in Clare at a year ago would be here now, in jail . . . and Ma with me . . . ?"

She said, "Ma, it was good of you to come"

"And who'd come if not your mother?"

Cathie's chin quivered down went her head again on the dear, comforting shoulder. She thought of that line from Kipling

"And if I were hanged on the highest hill

"I know whose love would follow me still . . ."

Yes Ma would come even ... I ... hanged ... on the highest hill . . .

"Ma, you know that I didn't know anything about it". That they're just keeping me here to ask me—questions . . ."

"Cathie, my little girl."

Ma's arms around her again, Ma's arms giving comfort.

The hideous tears coming to Cathie, closing her burning eyes, unloosening the tightness in her heart . . . "Ma, you're so good . . . so good. Oh, I can't ever make up to you . . . and I tried . . . I tried . . ."

"Hush, child. Darlin, don't worry. It will be all right!"

"Ma, it wasn't my fault, really, that I'm disgracing you. I couldn't help it that how—"

"I know, darlin'—I know."

"Ma, he was so good to me—so good . . ."

"I know. There, there, child—don't cry—don't cry so!"

Ma's own eyes ... sort of crust that I can't be—sort of sitting with him, now. He'd have liked it. I hope he can't know what's happening . . . to me . . . That's the only comfort I have, knowing he'll never know . . . And thinking of what Doctor Bullock said—that he was going to die anyway . . . And I haven't any thing to reproach myself for, really, except that I . . . that I . . .

No, she couldn't tell it . . . her love for Gordon Moore . . .

"Except that, Cathie, darlin'? Cathie, if you've been good . . . Cathie, it wasn't on account of you that someone took that poor man's life? That—that Mrs. Hennessey said—"

Haughty Sister

"No, no—it was a lie . . . I told you it was. We never had a cross word. He loved me, and I . . . I tried to love him though I never got over wishing—wishing I didn't—married him."

"My Cathie, my poor child. Don't cry so. You'll be sick. Just close your eyes—there's my hankie. See, it's one of the fine ones you gave me. With eau de cologne on it—now."

In the doorway the matron coughed. "Your sister is here, Mrs. Farnsworth," she said.

Cathie lifted her heavy head. There was Ruth appearing that silvery green dress she had made last summer to please Mr. Brownlow, under a new gray coat. "Well!" Ruth said. "This is a great reunion!"

Cathie nodded and wiped her eyes.

"I've been talking to Mr. Browning's friend, Mr. Harmon," Ruth rattled on nervously. "He says Cathie is really under suspicion. Under suspicion, can you imagine that?"

Gloomy Prospects

"No, Ruth, no! My Cathie . . . Who told you? I'll talk to him! I'll say a few things that will—"

"Oh, Ma, do be reasonable. You don't understand, Cathie, I don't expect Ma to grasp this, at her age and the sheltered life she's led and all, but YOU ought to realize! You're just sitting there dumb as an oyster. Don't you REALIZE what this means? You'll have to consult your attorneys and do something to prove where you were, and get an alibi and all that. Why, you can get into the notoriety, too. I don't care so much for myself, because I'm too independent to care the least bit what people think, but you ought to think of Ma and Mr. Browning with his position and all—"

Cathie hung her head.

"Mr. Harmon says you have two fine attorneys, anyway.

"No, Mr. Farnsworth's attorney sent them. He said—" Her voice broke again. "He said that he didn't handle criminal cases, himself."

"Now, Cathie, don't get tragic! My goodness, good news! With you sniffling and Ma crying, I don't know what you'd do without me. It seems I'm always the one to bear the brunt of it—poor me! I ought to be used to it. But I did think that right now I'd have a little peace for a change, and a chance to plan my own marriage——"

"Ruth, dear, you're hurtin' Cathie! Ruth, you mustn't talk——"

"No! I mustn't say anything! It's my fault that Cathie is mixed up in a murder, I suppose!"

"Cathie isn't mixed up in a—in——"

"She is. Haven't I just been telling you? Didn't Phil Brownlow's own friend, Mr. Harmon, say——"

Cathie sat up with a faint show of her old spirit. "I don't care WHAT he said—or your Mr. Browning, either. I don't know a thing about it and I'm not going to worry, so there.

Attorney Arrives

"Your attorney wants to see you, Mrs. Farnsworth, in private," the matron said.

Mr. Jesse Allan was standing just behind her.

"Come, Ma." Ruth said. Mary Paige got up heavily. She kissed Cathie again but hardly this time. Under the attorney's eyes she was self-conscious

"Goodbye, Ma"

"Goodbye, darlin' . . . don't worry. This will be right over, I know . . . Cathie can I . . . can I bring you anything?

Cathie shook her head, smiling badly. She went out.

"Do you see where all this trends?" Mr. Allan was asking gently.

Cathie didn't. "Please excuse me," she said. "I'm afraid I didn't hear what you were saying. I was thinking—about something else."

Mr. Allan's fat hands reached out for hers. He held them strongly between his own. "My dear girl," he said "You are charged with murder."

Hair Dyeing for Women Who Work

By MISS HUDDLESTON

THE PRACTICE of hair dyeing so long ignored by the writer, has evidently a place in beauty culture where it must be talked about. Of course hair dyeing is not new but the recent methods for accomplishing this end are a vast improvement ...

How Courage Can Increase Your Business

The fishing industry of Britain declined severa. years ago as badly as American industries have lately declined.

Today it is flourishing. This transformation and hop pen; brains caused it. Happen How"

B. C. Forbes

Sir Gomer Berry, tells the story thus as reported in a recent address by James Wallen of the Robert Hamilton Corporation

"For several years past the plight of our fishing industry has been notorious.

"A couple of years ago a scheme was put before the leading firms of trawler owners that they should spend a sum of money on advertising fish as an article of diet. Eventually, the whole trade agreed to a levy of one penny on the pound sterling (two cents on $5) on the value of all the fish landed, the proceeds to be spent on advertising

"Last year this levy totaled £150,000 ($700,000), and the whole of it has been spent on the 'Fish Before Fish' campaign, with which the world is now familiar. The results have been simply amazing. The revenue of British trawler owners has been increased by no less a sum than £1,100,000 ($5,500,000), and the sales of fish have gone up by 37,000 tons in one year.

"Today trawlers, which in the ordinary way are laid up for a considerable part of the year, are now working full time. In addition 72 new trawlers have already been launched, with the result that the shipyards engaged in building trawlers were working to full capacity."

NEW ENGLAND'S NEW BUILDING INCREASES

By FRANK H. MELOON

New England's new building contracts awarded from April to the week ending September 20. This compares with a total of $6,665,000 for the same week a year ago, and with the weekly average for 1929 to date of $7,120,000.

The cash balance of United Fruit, it should be explained, was about $24,000,000 after payment of the Oct. 1 dividend, comparing with $23,000,000 a year ago. For the nine months ended Sept. net profits after taxes may be estimated at $10,318,000 or $3.92 a share on common, with $4,850,000 or $5.92 a share for the 1929 period. The annual dividend rate is $7.

Boston savings bank deposits are surprising many by increasing. The seven largest Boston banks with about 54 per cent of the city's total deposits, show deposits as of September 30 amounting to $442,506,218. This compares with the July 15 total of $440,028,745 and with the March 31 total of $431,544,272.

Commercial banks with savings departments report a pronounced increase in the offerings of savings deposits perhaps because of the larger interest paid in the savings department as compared with that given on commercial deposits. There has been so far little evidence that depositors are "shopping around" to find where they can obtain the largest amount of interest on their savings deposits. Of the 198 savings banks in the State, 165 paid dividends, including extras, at an annual rate of 5 per cent or better between October 31, 1929 and July 31, 1930. The others paid at a 4½ per cent rate or higher.

The parking problem is taken by many people as something purely of personal interest. It is much more important than that, as leaders of finance and industry, deeply interested, will tell you. The number of mercantile and film establishment's providing parking space for their patrons is growing steadily. One Quincy bank provides such a service. Others would like to do so.

We can cite cases at length where lack of parking has caused loss of business to various Bay State establishments. A few will suffice for examples. Recently a relative motored in town to buy about $25 of bed linen. The driver could find no place to park at the big store to which he was directed to take her. So she went to a small ban establishment and took home her purchases.

Today's News of Live Stocks in Wall Street

News developments of the day are rather unimportant and with little direct bearing upon the course of prices. Traders in general were more concerned over the internal position of the market than over other developments. Business advices were a trifle more encouraging.

Reports from manufacturing centers indicated that buying of raw materials was increasing due to the attractive levels at which most commodities were selling. Reports also were current of a movement to extend the scope of these operations.

American Ice Aided by Hot Weather

Interests in American Ice state that business and profits of the company in September were larger than those of the corresponding month last year, which was a very profitable period. As a result profits for the year to date are slightly larger than those of the corresponding period last year.

Average temperatures in the East last month approached the highest on record for any September and favorably affected the ice business. Because the final three months last year were not good there is a growing feeling that the company will establish a record for earnings this year.

Steel Common Is the Leader

United States Steel will continue to be the leader in market movements in both directions, it is declared in many circles. The action of that stock is watched more closely than that of others on the theory that important interests always use Steel to affect the tenor of the list.

Economists have been commenting on the increase of nearly 6000 in the number of common stockholders in the quarter ended Sept. 30. That they assert, indicates that the reaction in the stock market in that period attracted small investors.

Copper Buyers Control Market

Consumers of copper are in control of the metal market. That has been reflected on numerous occasions. Efforts of some of the leading producers to maintain prices at times have been anything but successful due to the ability of the buyers to have their needs filled at concessions by the smaller interests in the selling end of the business.

Because of trade conditions in the industry leading market interests are not inclined to put their customers into the copper shares. They prefer to wait until it has been demonstrated that output has reached bottom and consumption to a larger scale than in the past.

New Products for American Radiator

Indications are that American Radiator & Standard Sanitary is continuing activities toward diversifying its products. Several weeks ago it was stated that the company had begun manufacturing metal caskets. Now it is reported that a vacuum cleaner is being introduced under the name of Arcoetta and that a subsidiary company is pushing a new washing machine on the market.

It is apparent that the management of the company is continuously seeking ways of overcoming the slower conditions in the building industry. The campaign for replacing old boilers and radiators is still being carried on.

National Dairy Products Earnings

The general belief in quarters close to the company is that earnings of National Dairy Products this year will be satisfactory.

Earnings Report Comparisons Made

Earnings reports, compared with a year ago, and dividend announcements by leading companies, shape up as follows:

	Since July 1	Additions yesterday
Increased earnings	276	2
Decreased earnings	555	4
Unchang Dividends	1,281	12
Increased dividends	67	1
Decreased dividends	124	1

1200 Benefit by Resumption

Central Railroad of New Jersey's Elizabethport shops have resumed with 1200 workers.

Transfer Tax Payments Gain

New York State agents for sale of state stock transfer tax stamps report September sales of $1,923,836, against $1,282,185 in August. Record for month was established in October, at year, at $4,884,427.

Buys Railroad for Only $4000

L. W. Warner, Topeka, bought at auction for $4000 Leavenworth & Topeka Railroad, which consists of 27 miles of right of way and tracks. He had to post $50,000 bonds and agree to keep the road in operation 40 days. It is assigned to Union Pacific under Commerce Commission consolidation plan.

World Stocks of Rubber to Increase

London, Oct. 3—Rubber dealers declare indications point to continuation of an increase in world stocks until at least the close of the year, and unless rubber trade recovers this may continue into next year. The consoling factor is the already low price, which may cause production to slow up sooner or later.

BOSTON STOCK PRICES SHOW FIRM TONE

Prices displayed a firm tone in dull trading on the Boston Stock Exchange today. Changes ranged from fractions to two points or more. Investment trust issues firmed in late trading after starting the session easier.

American Telephone soon advanced two points, Quincy Mining sold 1¾ higher and Old Colony was up a point. Torrington reversed the general trend, dipping a point to a new low for the year.

U. S. & Overseas quickly gained over a point. General Electric added 1¼ and Gillette was up a point. Fractional gains were recorded by New England Telephone, Boston Elevated second preferred and American Founders.

Boston & Maine prior preferred dropped over a point, Atchison seated a point and Boston Elevated showed a minor loss. Kreuger & Toll was up a major fraction.

Boston Stock Exchange will open as usual next Tuesday, when the American Legion parade will be held. Deliveries, however, will be postponed until the following day at the usual hour.

Boston banks and the Boston Clearing House will observe Saturday hours next Tuesday.

Isle Royale, whose ground showed a marked falling off in values when a fault threw the vein u. of position, is drifting west on the lode where it was picked up again in No. 5 shaft. Opening work also is proceeding in Nos. 4 and 2 shafts. Isle Royale is opened ahead for several years in stoping ground, which gives it leeway to develop additional good stretches.

Mohawk is shipping about 1400 tons of copper rock daily to the stamp mill. This is mostly from No. 8 shaft and is a considerable enlargement from average shipments in 1929. Very little of the Mohawk mineral has been smelted since the first of the year and mill output is being stored a await a more favorable market.

Boston Bank Sets High in Deposits

For the first time in its history deposits in the Boston Five Cent savings bank passed the $100,000,000 mark. At the close of business, October 2, total deposits amounted to $100,013,066, as compared with $93,220,702 at the end of 1929. Total resources of the Boston bank, which is the largest mutual savings institution in the state, now are in excess of 107,279,000.

The bank's deposits are owned by 175,859 depositors, giving average deposits per account of $569.

$500,000 Contract ►

Arthur G. McKee & Co. of Cleveland, has received a contract from the Pennroil Co. to construct a cracking unit at Oil City at a cost of approximately $500,000.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Today's Complete Prices and Dividends

GAINS ARE LOWERED BY LATE PROFIT-TAKING

New York, Oct. 3—A substantial advance in the stock market today was sharply reduced in the final hour by a flurry of trading by extensive week-end profit taking.

Although bullish forces derived considerable encouragement from teh large drop in brokers' loans and the remark of President Hoover before the American Bankers' Association, business news was in the main rather disappointing and traders were content to take moderate profits.

GAINS WERE LOPPED.

A long list of stocks was up 2 to 7 points but the late selling movement lopped off 1 to 3 points to these gains.

Fox Film was heavily sold in the final dealings, closing 2¾ points lower. Montgomery Ward had been under pressure, selling off more than 2, but it recovered slightly.

U. S. Steel, after selling up 2½ points, lost half the gain. General Electric, General Motors and Radio closed ¼ to ⅝ lower.

Advances of 1 to 7 points in Allied Chemical and Case were cut to 1 to 2 higher. The loss was irregular. Car sales approximated 2,600,000 shares.

Commission houses were not inclined to look for any runaway bull market, but several felt that yesterday's action tended to indicate that the September decline reached a fairly definite climax on Tuesday.

The brokerage loans tabulation, covering the trading week ended Tuesday, was indicated as bearing out this theory, for the sharp decline in loans at last gave evidence of the weeding out of weak holdings. The preceding three weeks had resulted in a net gain in loans of $112,000,000, despite a sharp contraction in quotations.

NEW GAINS EXPECTED

While Mr. Hoover refrained from making any predictions as to when better times may be expected, bulls hoped that the renewed optimism which he expressed would go far toward dissipating the enormous hysterical fears which that had reigned in speculative circles of late.

Early samples of weekend business reviews indicated some slowing down of the seasonal upswing noted in previous weeks, but further gains during October were still expected in many lines. Omission of the Richfield Oil dividend was the outstanding item of the day's corporate news, but it had been clearly foreshadowed by the market action of this week.

Although more dividend reductions and unfavorable earnings statements are expected during the next few months, bullish circles feel that they have already been counted by the September decline.

In the meantime, several large bear traders have not changed their position, and most observers see little if any indication that important banking groups are taking any interest in the market at this time.

Call money again renewed at 2 per cent.

CURB CLIMB CONTINUES

Stocks climbed cautiously on the Curb today. The favorable brokers' loan figures, now at their lowest total in about three years, increased speculative confidence moderately, but only in a few instances did the shorts exhibit much eagerness to cover.

Odd trade a fairly good showing. Coeden, which has been a weak feature, rallied on covering, and Humble climbed a couple of points. Cities Service and Standard of Indiana were firm.

Gains in the utilities held generally fo fractions, although some of the favorites, including Bond & Share, United Light & and American Gas & Electric, rose one to two points or so.

Institutional demand for investment securities carried the best grade issues higher in a moderate pace today. The volume of business was somewhat under the previous session, ascribed in part to the appearance of several large offerings.

Report of the Electric Bond & Share Co. for June 30, disclosed additions to its investments in the common stocks of its client holding companies.

As of that date Electric Bond & Share held 17 per cent of American Gas & Electric stock, 30 per cent of American Power & Light, 30 per cent of Electric Power & Light and 41 per cent of National Power & Light. Net assets as of June 30, were equal to $68 a common share.

Special meeting of stockholders of Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, has been called for Oct. 13, to vote on the issuance of $12,000,000 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

Cotton Lower in New York Market

New York, Oct. 3—Cotton futures today closed barely steady, 6 to 14 points lower; October 10.35; December 10.61; January 10.70. New contracts—October 10.37-38; December 10.58-60; January 10.66-68; March 10.84-85; May 11.03-04; July 11.18. Spot quiet; middling 10.50.

Grains Are Firmer in Chicago Market

Chicago, Oct. 3—Grains closed firmer today. Wheat was up 2c, corn ½ to 1⅝c and oats 1 to 1¼c. Rye finished 2 to 2¼c higher.

Ministers and Religion

THIS PAPER is a reverent paper. It believes in religion, it supports the efforts and activities of the churches, and realizes and appreciates the good that ministers of the Gospel do in the world.

Nevertheless, there are some occasions when this paper cannot agree with certain ministers, however well-meaning they may be.

The other day a group of Christian ministers got together and denounced the American Legion because it did not mention Christ in the prayers of the organization.

The American Legion is not a sectarian organization. It prays as Christ prayed, to the Eternal God.

In fact, Christ definitely and specifically gave His followers a prayer to pray. This prayer is so generally recognized as His prayer that it is called the Lord's Prayer.

In it there is no mention of Himself. The prayer is to "Our Father which is in Heaven."

Unless this group of Lutheran ministers is ready to complain of Jesus for not having put Christ in the Lord's Prayer it should not denounce the American Legion for praying according to the Lord's Prayer.

A SHORT TIME ago another body of Christian ministers got together and denounced those temperance advocates who believe that the policy of permitting the restricted consumption of light wines and beers is a better temperance policy than prohibition.

Here again these Christian ministers seem to forget that Christ has turned water into wine.

We have no record of His having turned any water into whiskey or gin or rum or brandy or any hard liquor; but He did turn the water into wine, and as far as the example of Christ is concerned, He did sanction to that extent the use of wine.

Therefore, those who believe that the suppression of hard liquors and the permission of light wines is the best temperance policy can hardly be properly denounced by Christian ministers unless the ministers are ready to denounce the action of Christ in turning the water into wine.

FINALLY, A BODY of Christian ministers got together the other day and denounced the whole public because the attendance was falling off at some Christian churches, and because the people generally were not supporting these Christian churches and their Christian ministers as they should.

This paper desires to repeat its statement that it is a religious paper, that it supports the proper efforts and activities of the churches, and that it believes in the good that Christian ministers can do and should do.

But it wishes respectfully to say that if the public were not reading the Hearst papers, the Hearst papers would not denounce the public, but the responsible editors of these publications would get together and try to find out WHAT WAS THE MATTER WITH THE HEARST PAPERS.

Perhaps it would be well for the Christian ministers who are denouncing the American Legion and denouncing the sincere temperance people who believe in moderation rather than prohibition, and denouncing the public generally because the public does not go to church, to find out WHY the public does not go to church and to see if there is not in some cases something the matter with the churches instead of the public.

THIS PAPER believes that the whole situation would be remedied by these Christian ministers paying more attention to religion and less attention to politics, and is willing to predict that if the ministers will keep out of politics the public will not keep out of the churches.

There are plenty of statesmen that can tell people what to do about the League of Nations, the American Legion, prohibition, and all the other political questions that are issues.

But these statesmen do not presume to, and are not fitted to teach Godliness the way ministers can do and are supposed to do.

THIS PAPER repeats the suggestion that the statesmen be allowed to talk politics and that the ministers confine themselves to preaching religion.

Then we think the ministers will find that religious people will be able to go to church.

Punishing East Boston

Another Problem for Mayor Curley.

Former Representative Niland seeks to enlist the influence of Mayor Curley against the proposed closing of one of the two ferries operating to East Boston.

One of the most populous sections of our metropolitan area, it has been at times one of the most neglected.

If there has been a scheme afoot to establish a garbage plant, an inflammable oil refinery or some other nuisance to which the superior sections of Boston remonstrated, the almost invariable rule has been, "Try it on East Boston. They'll stand for it over there."

Fortunately, the civic pride of East Boston is not inaudible yet. It has got so used to fighting for its rights that it probably will never stop. We hope so.

Mayor Curley, with so many tasks, is like the busy bee. But we venture he will find time to insist that East Boston shall have the transportation facilities which it requires.

No More Patchwork Quilts

Say State Needs Systematic Construction of Highways

Of all the proposals made to the Democratic State convention that of Former Representative James D. Burns of Salem for the devisement of a progressive, systematic scheme for constructing the highways of Massachusetts was perhaps the most thoughtful.

We will spend about $17,900,000 on highway construction this year and, as usual, it will be largely a hit-or-miss policy.

While we can be thankful that our highway building has been signally free from the graft which is chronic elsewhere we yet can regret that the State officials seemingly have failed to adopt any comprehensive plan which contemplates the uniform needs of the State as a whole. Massachusetts does not need any more patchwork quilts.

Mr. Burns, with his long experience as an engineer, visualized the real need for a progressive commonwealth, and that the convention did not respond to his plea is not to his discredit.

Recounts Show Honesty

The recounts of the primary election are over. They have disclosed some inaccuracies, but no dishonesty. That is good. Honest elections, next to intelligent ones, are the requisite of good government in Massachusetts or any other commonwealth.

THIS IS NOT YOUR UNCLE SAM

This imitation of Uncle Sam, as different from the REAL Sam as soft mush is from solid steel, is a representation of passing timidity. It does not represent this nation.

The real Uncle Sam, temporarily evicted from his mansion of prosperity, would not sit on the sidewalk, groaning, wondering and reading about others.

He would DO something. There is no substitute, in troublous times, for the leadership of action.

MONEY TO WASTE—PLENTY

Men always find money for their vices. Our government seems to find money easily for its foolishness.

But MONEY FOR WORK, money to help the unemployed, is not so plentiful.

Listen, World! -:- Kids Are People

By ELSIE ROBINSON

It Was Different In The Old Days When Dad Was Boss

REMEMBER WHAT happened when you wanted to quit your job at Keenan's grocery and join the village band?

Plenty of rumpus—I'll say! Ma crying at the thought of you running around with all those wild hoodlums. Grandpop shouting that if he had his way he'd set a bomb some night under you. And Dad putting his foot down and telling you not to talk nonsense.

So you stayed with Keenan's and became a grocer. Have you been sorry for it since? I wonder. Probably, after that first brief struggle, you accepted your lot without much question. For that was the custom of the time. Kids weren't people. Ma 'n' Dad—particularly Dad—ran the show.

Elsie Robinson

How long ago was that—20, 30 years? Queer how changes will creep up on you without realizing that they've happened! The other day a letter came to this department about another boy and another Dad. This youngster wants to be an artist. And his Dad—a prosperous automobile man named Al Harvey, in Kansas City—is as red-eyed as yours was at the notion. His boy—an artist? Not over his dead body! He boy is going to learn the automobile business. Get a lot of money. Amount to something. Then, according to Dad, some day the kid will be grateful and realize that Dad did "his duty" by him. But the kid guesses no.

Ordinary enough letter, but it opened up a lot of speculation. Talking it over here in the office we wondered.

We decided to put it up to YOU. So we printed the letter and asked for replies. They came—by the hundreds! Hundreds and hundreds of letters from mothers and fathers in every walk of life and—here's the amazing point—every letter sided with the kid!

Even though they admitted that automobiles usually made money and art usually didn't—they sided with the kid—said he had a right to choose his own career! Some changes since the old days down at Brown's Corner, yes?

Here, for example, is one from another dad who has also made his in autos. But is George D. Wray of Shreveport, La., going to force his three sons to sell six-cylinders? He is not. Listen—

Dear Elsie Robinson—

I, myself, am a fairly successful automobile dealer and have three young sons in whom I take the keenest possible interest. Therefore your invitation impresses me so strongly that I must give voice to my thoughts.

Where does this automobile dealer and get the idea that he should take it upon himself to force his son into an employment which he loathes? What guarantee has he that the automobile business will be a good occupation for his son just because he, himself, likes it? Fathers were put here to help sons and daughters realize their own ambitions and not to force them into a life which is entirely foreign to their talents. The most miserably unhappy people are those who dislike the employment they have been forced into. This dad is apparently one of those who would force a round peg into a square hole with the usual result . . . I think he is all wet, and if he persists in forcing his ideas on his son, his son would be perfectly justified in leaving home and taking up his life among people who understand him better.

Sincerely,
George D. Wray.

Shreveport, La.

Agree with him? If you do such ideas won't seem exciting. But just try them on a parent who doesn't, and see what scenes!

H. G. Wells Writes

ON "THE SCIENCE OF LIFE"

Qualifying Forces Are at Work

THIS BRIEF study of sex-determination has done much to enlarge our minds from the rather crude gene-determination, with which we necessarily began. Normally, as we showed at the outset of this chapter, sex is determined at fertilization and is plainly a Mendelizing character.

But since then we have gradually unfolded a number of qualifying forces that do much to modify the results of that primary division.

H. G. Wells

Let us take stock of our position.

The egg is an almost unformed sphere of living substance. When it is fertilized it begins to organize and shape itself, and soon it comes under the direction of the genes, the little parliament within the nucleus. The parliament is not altogether harmonious, for every character of the future individual is decided by debate between two rival parties of genes, contributed one by the father and one by the mother. On some points the parties are in agreement.

On others they differ, and the result is either a compromise (as in the pink four o'clock) or the more or less complete overruling of one gene, which, however, is not destroyed, by its dominant rival. And even the majority vote of the genes is not always the decisive factor.

We can interfere with the developmental processes experimentally, and our results can illuminate those intranuclear operations, and can show in some cases how the chromosomal decisions are put into operation.

Recent zenetical work is modifying our ideas about the procedure in this microscopic parliament very considerably.

We propose to make the point clear by considering in some detail the determination of sex in the fruit fly. We shall make it clear that other genes may take quite an important share in the sex-determining work.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Written in collaboration with Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 3—Thoughts while strolling: Funeral parlors jazzed up like tea rooms. Those "O. K." talkers who plunge hands deep in pockets and spit through their teeth. Hanson Booth, the artist, has prematurely snow white hair. Wish fruit tasted as delicious as it looks in street car ads.

Keats Speed, a Louisville, Ky., boy, who made good in the city. Who remembers when all baby carriages were high off the ground? The noted financier who "rolls his own." Natacha Rambova's slinking walk. Elderly sports with vest edgings of white. Harry Salpeter who knows all the literary great intimately.

A cafe called "The Better Ole." Hattie Carnegie, the modiste. Sign: "Our hams are not cured—they were never sick." Phil Dunning who flies from Los Angeles to first nights. A spotted coach dog under a carriage in front of Cartier's. The frazzled hyacinth plants in Helen Gould's window boxes. Is that F. P. A. or Groucho Marx?

Francis Sisson, the oratorical banker. Home made taffy—$2 a pound for goodness sake. The sedate haberdashery in Kaskel & Kaskel windows. Morris Aleshire who used to convulse us with blackboard pictures when teacher wasn't looking. Then had to stay after school to clean the erasers.

The pale and interesting looking Mrs. Irving Berlin. Frederic James Smith, movie editor. Nervous men who give necks quick little twitters. New Yorkitis! An avenue store that never held a "sale." And prosperers. A lady walks along reading a letter and weeping. The whoees of fog horns give me the miseries.

An ad firm—Ripp and Bang. The Rialto's best known press agent was named Drum. Elizabeth Cobb and her new husband. Saucy flappers with jaunty berets. I've exhausted emotions over ocean flights. The best I can give them is a glance and quick turn to the funnies. Alexander Woollcott twittering along.

The old Wendell mansion is more forbidding looking than ever. Soon the Union League Club will be on Park Avenue. Two blocks of new buildings. When will it stop? The speak-easy famous for "Between-the-Sheets" cocktails. A cop feeding a hurt sparrow. A clean deed in a dirty world.

No one untrained in music writes a New York editorialist, but think of trying to lead an orchestra. Maybe I was a bit jingled, but not many years ago I tried to lead several including Paul Whiteman's. But during night clubbing days I am solaced by memory of one happy inhibition. I never promised a passing cigarette girl to set her up in business.

The Belmont, now facing the wreckers, gives older New Yorkers a sentimental wrench. In opulent days when Jim Woods was Mine Host it was the smartest inn in town—not the largest, but encompassing an unforgettable elan.

A skyscraper will shoot up on the Belmont site cater-cornered from the Chrysler building. The tallest (I've been indoors two days) at the moment.

A New Yorker motoring in my section of Missouri writes of seeing a boy lying in the shade at the forks of a lonely country road. He inquired: "Boy, which road goes to Kansas City?" The boy barely nodded toward one and mumbled: "That 'un!" Exasperated he sneered: "Show me a lazier move and I'll give you a dollar." Nothing moved this time but the boy's lips to say: "Put her in my right hand pocket!"

Speaking of motoring, I have never—and for an excellent reason—learned to drive. Tempus has done a mess of fugiting so now he truth may be told. The lesson was under the tutorship of Frank Kelly, an old friend, in his car. It was early in Central Park. The foliage gifted splinters of sunshine. Birds pulsed morning songs. And other-tra-la-la like that for six bars. Heads were along and my foot slipped on the whopple-choke or something. Our heads banged back, trees flattened out, and we shot out of the park like a breeze. I have a blurry recollection of missing a tottering gentleman crossing the street by an eyelash. It was the late Andrew Carnegie. The morning papers carried a squib about the iron master close shave by an "unknown motorist." I crept a head hiding until the bed for several days. So that, children, is why Master Odd pedals madly around on a velocipede.
